GEMINI RENDEZVOUS WITH SATELLITE

Johnson's Policies Blamed

Buddhist Extremists Rap Viet Peace Pact

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A 26-year-old Buddhist nun burned herself to death today in the courtyard of a small pagoda in Da Nang. She was the sixth Buddhist to take her life by fire since Sunday in a wave of antigovernment fanaticism that continues despite appeals by Buddhist leaders to stop it.

Monks said the nun, Thich Nu Dieu Dinh, left behind a letter for President Johnson charging that "Vietnamese Buddhists were annihilated by your policies in Viet Nam."

The suicide indicated the strong opposition among extremist Buddhists to a truce negotiated by Buddhist moderates with Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime.

Another development that imperiled that agreement was the resignation today of the moderate head of the Buddhist Institute, Thich (venerable) Tam Chau, the chief Buddhist negotiator with the government.

Apparently acting under pressure from the militants in the unified Buddhist church, Tam Chau said in his letter of resignation: "I have tried to solve the present situation but I have failed." A special council will be convened to decide whether to accept the resignation, but Buddhist sources said this might take two or three days.

The Buddhist Institute is the secular arm of the church. Tam Chau's announcement came as the nation's Buddhists observed the 2,510th birthday of the founder of their faith, Buddha. Calm settled over Saigon after the Buddhist Institute urged its followers to commemorate the anniversary at home with prayers for the dead in the weeks of Buddhist agitation for civilian rule. Troops hauled down roadblocks outside the institute compound.

The nun committed suicide on the grounds of the Hai Lac pagoda, a small Buddhist center two blocks from Da Nang's central market. Paratroopers and marines kept an orderly crowd of about 300 persons back, and small groups of boys and girls draped the charred remains

Britons Gain In Rowboat Sea Voyage

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Two English journalists are apparently making some headway in their efforts to row across the Atlantic in a 15-foot rowboat.

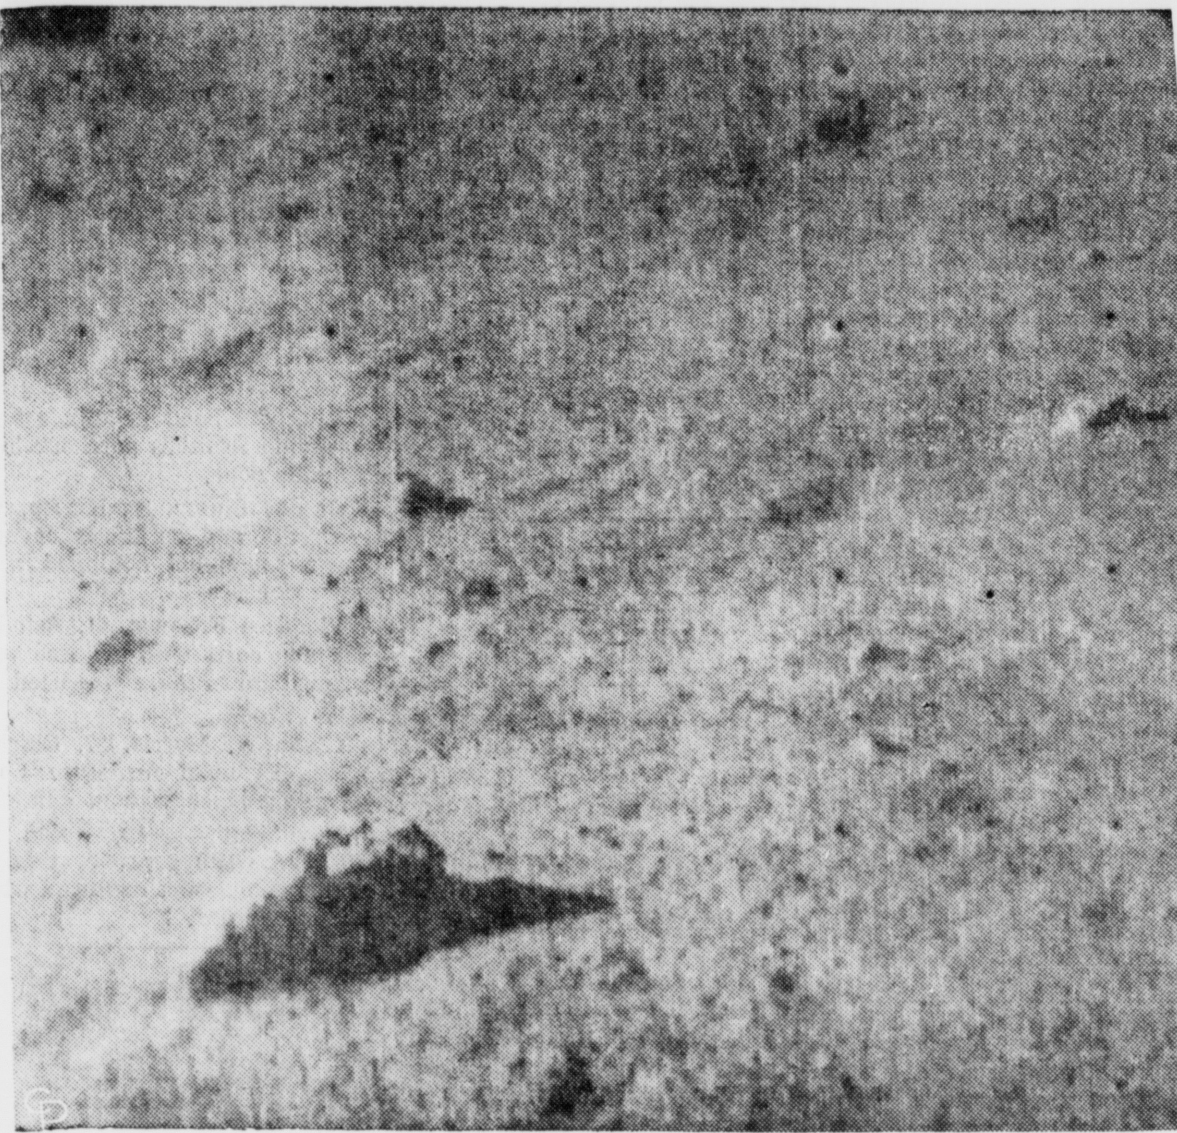

David Johnstone, 34, and John Hoare, 29, were paid an unexpected visit Thursday and found out they had advanced 98 miles toward England since departing Virginia Beach May 21.

The radar of the submarine Cutlass spotted the rowboat named Puffin at a distance of about nine miles, prompting Lt. Commander Lewis B. Sykes to order his men to maneuver the sub to the rowboat's side.

Asked if they needed assistance, Hoare and Johnstone replied they were doing fine and had every intention of continuing with their venture.

Sykes told the pair they were 98 miles east-southeast of Cape Henry—a progress of 64 miles since they were last seen Saturday night.

The two had hoped to make the journey to St. Ives, England in 50 days by averaging 60 miles per day. Adverse winds during the early part of the trip has kept their average down to eight miles a day. Over the past 4½ days, however, Hoare and Johnstone had upped their average to better than 14 miles per day.

Teachers Strike Schools In Detroit, Flint Areas

DETROIT (AP)—Teachers in a fifth suburban Detroit school district struck today and those in a sixth scheduled a walkout for Monday. More money in new contracts is the teachers' goal.

In addition, 55 schools in Flint remained shut a second day as teachers there continued a demonstration for higher pay.

More than 82,000 pupils are enrolled in the affected Detroit suburban and Flint schools. Year-end closings are scheduled from next Friday up to June 22.

Some 2,000 teachers in the area are involved.

The Ecorse AFL-CIO Federation of Teachers broke off negotiations with the Board of Education in that Detroit suburb early today. Its members began picketing at 7 a.m.

This walkout jumped to 61 schools and 38,839 pupils the number idled in suburban Detroit. Flint's 55 schools have 44,000 pupils.

The Fitzgerald Education Association in suburban Warren voted to strike Monday and picket the Fitzgerald District's six schools.

At Fitzgerald, as in Flint and in the Detroit suburban Crestwood District, teachers are represented by affiliates of the independent Michigan Education Association. They choose to term their demonstrations "professional day protests."

But William Gayde Fitzgerald association president, said the teachers would strike and man picket posts.

Bargaining units affiliated with the AFL-CIO Michigan Federation of Teachers have termed their work stoppages strikes, although such are prohibited by public employees under state law.

In Lansing, Gov. George Romney met with members of the State Labor Mediation Board. He announced he would call a meeting of state educational leaders in his office Tuesday.

Flint teachers are seeking a starting salary of $5,750 a year. They now receive $5,300.

The suburban Detroit teachers are asking beginning pay of $5,700 to $6,000 for bachelor's degree holders. They now are paid about $5,400 to start. An additional demand is for an increase in maximum salary from the present $8,200 to between $9,400 and $9,700.

3 More Ohio GIs Killed in Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three Ohio servicemen were listed by the Defense Department Thursday as killed in action in Viet Nam, and another as dead from nonhostile cause.

Combat casualties were Army Staff Sgt. Thomas E. Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hebert Collins, Troy; Marine Lance Cpl. James H. Stewart Jr., whose parents live in Columbus, and Marine Pfc. Ronald Ralich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Ralich, Lorain.

The other deceased was Army Sgt. 1. C. Carl D. Bennett, whose widow, Elfriede, lives in Marietta.

Surveyor Sends More Pictures From Moon

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Surveyor 1, triumphant U. S. spacecraft with feet planted firmly on the moon, radioed its second long stream of pictures early today—photos of itself and lunar terrain, containing no surprises.

Some of the second series were out of focus, hurriedly taken to speed the camera on a full-circle sweep of the landing site—the Sea of Storms near the moon's equator.

Others of the series were remarkably detailed, some showing items as small as one-eighth of an inch. Scientists, after studying results of the full-circle sweep, plan later to turn the camera back to snap interesting areas.

The 620-pound spacecraft settled gently on its three shock-absorbing legs early Thursday after a spectacularly successful 63-hour voyage over a quarter of a million miles.

Scientists said the accomplishment put the Surveyor program—an effort involving plans for a total of seven Surveyor shots at a cost of $725 million—ahead by one year.

French Firms Make Deals With Reds

PARIS (AP)—Two nationalized French firms have made big business deals with the Soviet Union and Red China recently, but officials deny any political implications.

"It's strictly business," said a spokesman of the Foreign Ministry. "Politics had nothing to do with it."

A spokesman for the Ministry of Economic Affairs said the same thing.

The deal with the Soviet Union gives Renault, France's largest auto maker, a free hand in revitalizing and expanding Russia's Moskvich auto plant. The one with Red China opens a Paris-Shanghai route for Air France and a Chinese airline.

Both agreements were announced less than three weeks before President Charles de Gaulle leaves on an official visit to the Soviet Union.

De Gaulle has been campaigning for years for more East-West contacts, economic as well as cultural, as a step toward easing tensions. There has been speculation in the French press that his visit to Moscow may provide the occasion to announce more such contacts.

Off-Jinxed Shot Proves Success

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The Gemini 9 astronauts executed a successful rendezvous with a barrel-shaped satellite today and reported a shroud still partially covered its docking collar, which may prevent an attempt to hook up with the target.

"We have a weird-looking machine," command pilot Thomas P. Stafford reported to a ground station at Hawaii.

"The clamshells are on but they are open wide. It appears that one of the bolts may not have blown. It looks like it's held on by some inconceivable force there."

The shroud, which covers a docking collar on the target satellite, was to have jettisoned shortly after the satellite was launched Wednesday. Whether it did or not has been a mystery.

After two heartbreaking scrubs, a night Titan 2 rocket launched astronauts Thomas P. Stafford and Eugene A. Cernan on a vital three-day flight that could bring the U.S. its second space triumph of a busy week.

As the space ship settled into orbit, the pilots went in hot pursuit of a tiny, barrel-shaped satellite launched Wednesday, hoping for a rendezvous with the target high over the Pacific Ocean early this afternoon.

After executing four major orbital changes with bursts of his jet thrusters, Stafford in the first 2½ hours of the flight closed the distance to the target from 640 to about 125 miles.

He also had shifted the Gemini 9 path into almost a perfect circle 170 miles from the earth. At launch, the ship had gone into an orbit ranging from 99 to 172 miles.

"For the third time, go!" Stafford quipped as he sat in the spacecraft poised for the launch.

Just 31 hours after the Surveyor moonship landed softly on the lunar surface and sent back dramatic pictures of possible manned landing sites, the Titan propelled Gemini 9 aloft on a vital, three-day rendezvous and space walk mission.

The big Titan, with the rays of a bright sun glistening on its sides, rose slowly from its launch pad and sped out over the Atlantic Ocean, followed by a big white tail of vapor.

"We're right down the middle," flight director Eugene Kranz shouted.

"Everything," he told Stafford, "is green and go."

"We're on our way!" Stafford yelled exultantly. "It's fantastic."

Before returning to earth, the astronauts were to perform many of the maneuvers Apollo space men will make on round-trip journeys to the moon.

A year and a day after Edward H. White II became the first American to walk in space, Cernan was to climb out of the space ship Saturday and for 2½ hours hurtle through the skies as a human satellite.

A barrel-shaped target satellite—fired into orbit Wednesday before a communications failure forced the second scrub of the Gemini launch—flashed across the Cape as the Titan roared to life.

The 11-foot-long target satellite, a tiny dot in the vastness of space, was entering its 30th revolution of the earth as Stafford ford and Cernan began their hot pursuit.

They planned to close in on the quarry after a four-hour chase covering 75,000 miles.

Not until they were within eyesight of the satellite would the astronauts know whether a shroud protecting it from the heat and pressures of blastoff fell away when the target separated from its Atlas booster.

If it had not, they would have to cancel plans for a linkup of the two orbiting vehicles, for the shroud covers the docking collar on the satellite. They would, however, be able to practice a series of rendezvous maneuvers.

Stafford made his first move in the chase just seconds after the Gemini went into orbit. He fired his jet thrusters to adjust the high point of the space ship's orbital path to about 172 miles.

As the rocket rose, capsule communicator Neil A. Armstrong, who commanded the Gemini 8 flight, told the astronauts they were "go for staging."

"Roger, understand we're go," Stafford replied.

When the second stage separated, Stafford saw a fireball behind them. "It's fantastic," he said.

When the 138-foot gantry was pulled away from the spacecraft this morning, and light broke into the capsule, Cernan murmured: "Oh, boy!" Stafford added, "It's a great day."

And it was. Proving that time is charm, the Titan vaulted off its pad at 9:39 a.m. EDT, riding its blazing trail of hot gases to more than 100 miles into space.

Vinton Powder Plant Blast Is Fatal to 5

McARTHUR, Ohio (AP)—Five persons were killed today in an explosion at the Red Diamond plant of the Austin Powder Co. on Ohio 677, about three miles east of this Vinton County seat in the southern Ohio hills.

One isolated building of the plant, behind one of the hills on the grounds, was reported demolished in the blast which came about 7:45 a. m. The explosion was heard in McArthur, but many thought it was a sonic boom.

There were no other injuries. Only a gaping hole remained where the two-story building stood. Debris was scattered over a radius of about 500 feet.

McArthur Fire Chief Loyd Gill said two trucks were used to extinguish pieces of burning debris in the blast area.

It was believed the five victims were in the same building, described as a "jelly mixing shed."

Other details were not available. The plant manager, John Salts, issued a statement saying only that an accident had occurred and "no other information."

Medicare Parley Is Scheduled by LBJ for June 15

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson announced today that he is convening leaders from every state for a meeting June 15 to make sure the new Medicare program will get off to a good start on July 1.

A White House statement said 200 hospital chiefs will join with federal officials in reviewing plans "to launch the largest domestic health program in the nation's history."

Johnson will address the one-day working session on Medicare.

The President also announced that he is asking Gardner to set up a round-the-clock Medicare information service at Social Security national headquarters in Baltimore to handle Medicare problems.

North Viets Pounded Again

U.S. Warplanes Continue Raids

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Waves of American warplanes pounded North Viet Nam Thursday for the fourth straight day of heavy raids.

The Navy and Air Force attack planes hit once again at Communist anti-aircraft sites—a main target all week—and also at oil depots, storage areas and river traffic.

U.S. military headquarters reported one F105 Thunderchief was shot down over North Viet Nam today. The pilot, Capt. Robert J. Pielin, 34, of Chicago, was plucked out of the sea two miles off Dong Hoi in a daring and dangerous rescue by an Albatross flying boat.

The rescue plane landed under heavy fire from Communist artillery and small arms to pick up Pielin within 10 minutes, and he was flown to Da Nang, in South Viet Nam. Bruises were his only injury.

Pielin's plane was the seventh reported lost since Monday, when improved weather permitted resumption of heavy attacks on the North, and the 260th reported downed by the North Vietnamese since American planes began attacking north of the 17th parallel 16 months ago.

Ground action in South Viet Nam continued light as it has all week.

In the largest of scattered small fights, troops of the South Korean Tiger Division reported killing 32 Viet Cong in two brisk engagements Thursday night and this morning.

The Korean troops are attached to units of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division and Vietnamese units in the combined Operation Cray Horse. This is a continuing sweep about 20 miles north of An Khe and 270 miles northeast of Saigon and has been going on since May 16. The U.S. command credited the combined force with killing 390 Viet Cong since then and capturing 31, while sustaining light casualties themselves.

Cardboard Jail Wall Replaced

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—The detention cells in the Springfield Courthouse have been keeping a secret for years—one wall was made of heavy cardboard.

The wall was painted to match the other, more solid walls of the cell block.

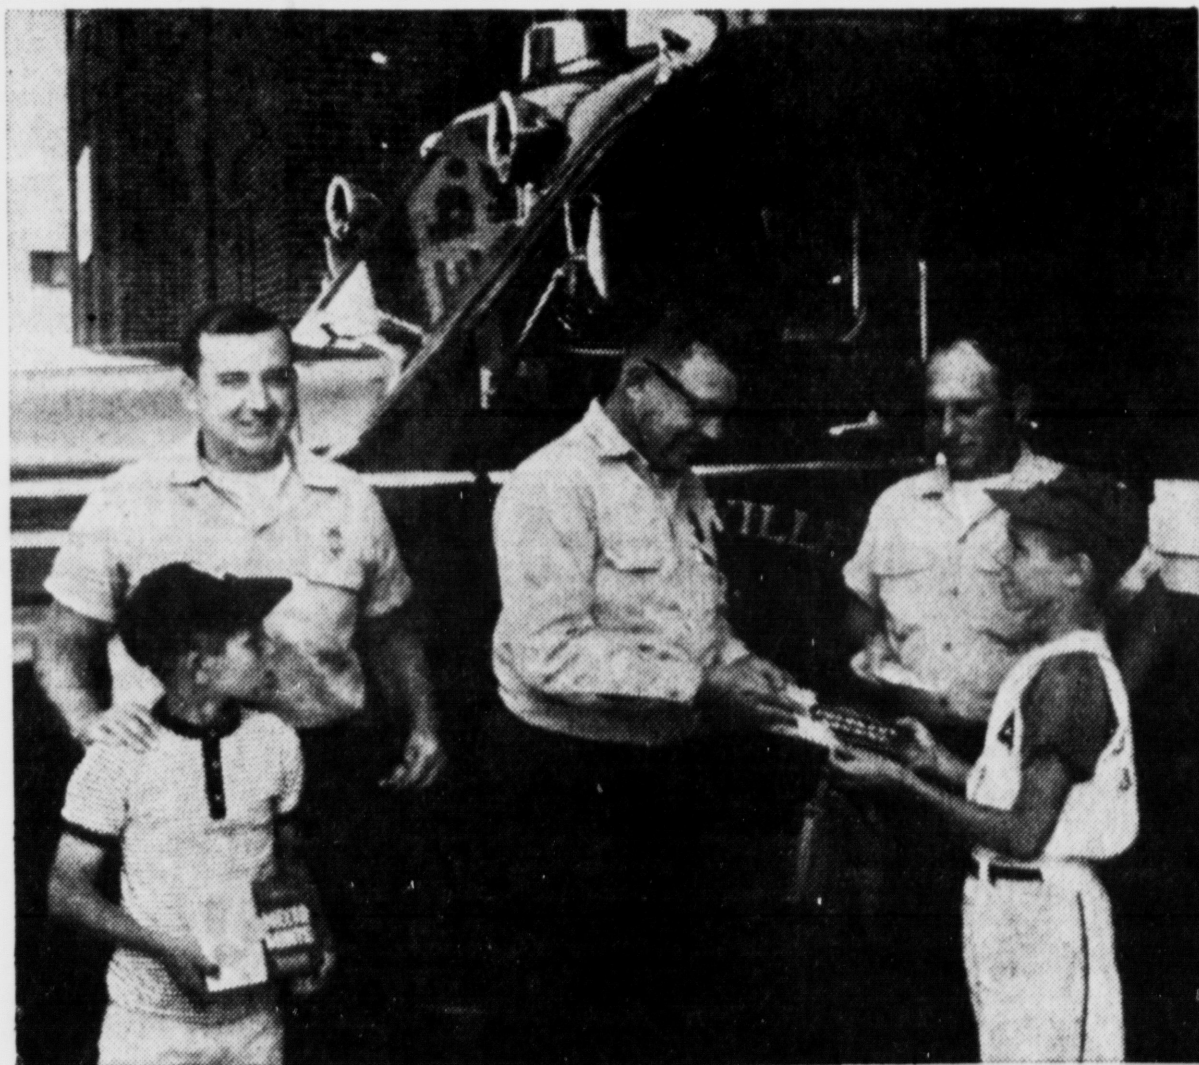

A curious policeman, not a prisoner, made the discovery Thursday. Springfield police have been using the courthouse cells for detention while a new station is being built.

Work began right away to make the fake wall secure.

Youth Baseball Candy Sale Slated To Start Saturday

FIRST SALE—Gregg Hoskins sells the first box of candy to Lt. Fred Howell of the Circleville Fire Department as the annual Youth Baseball Program candy sale gets under way. Looking on are Perri Hoskins, Fireman Chet Echard and Fireman Martin Garner. Gregg is a member of Bingham Drugs in the Little League and Perri plays with Hill Implement in the Mosquito League. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hoskins, 121 Parkview Ave.

The streets of Circleville will be swamped with youthful baseball players Saturday when the annual candy sale gets under way.

Sponsored by the Circleville Youth Baseball Program, Inc., the candy sale annually produces an income of more than $1,000 for the program. It is the only fund raising function in which the participants themselves are actually involved.

Candy will be distributed to managers in the Mosquito League, and both divisions of the Little League tonight at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

The youngsters hit the streets in a concentrated effort tomorrow to sell as much of the candy as possible in one day.

THIS YEAR the youth baseball program provides supervised, competitive recreation for more than 400 boys. The youth function provides recreation during scheduled games, plus most teams hold practice sessions one or more times a week.

A White House statement said 200 hospital chiefs will join with federal officials in reviewing plans "to launch the largest domestic health program in the nation's history."

Johnson will address the one-day working session on Medicare.

The President also announced that he is asking Gardner to set up a round-the-clock Medicare information service at Social Security national headquarters in Baltimore to handle Medicare problems.

North Viets Pounded Again

U.S. Warplanes Continue Raids

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Waves of American warplanes pounded North Viet Nam Thursday for the fourth straight day of heavy raids.

The Navy and Air Force attack planes hit once again at Communist anti-aircraft sites—a main target all week—and also at oil depots, storage areas and river traffic.

U.S. military headquarters reported one F105 Thunderchief was shot down over North Viet Nam today. The pilot, Capt. Robert J. Pielin, 34, of Chicago, was plucked out of the sea two miles off Dong Hoi in a daring and dangerous rescue by an Albatross flying boat.

The rescue plane landed under heavy fire from Communist artillery and small arms to pick up Pielin within 10 minutes, and he was flown to Da Nang, in South Viet Nam. Bruises were his only injury.

Pielin's plane was the seventh reported lost since Monday, when improved weather permitted resumption of heavy attacks on the North, and the 280th reported downed by the North Vietnamese since American planes began attacking north of the 17th parallel 16 months ago.

Ground action in South Viet Nam continued light as it has all week.

In the largest of scattered small fights, troops of the South Korean Tiger Division reported killing 32 Viet Cong in two brisk engagements Thursday night and this morning.

The Korean troops are attached to units of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division and Vietnamese units in the combined Operation Cray Horse. This is a continuing sweep about 20 miles north of An Khe and 270 miles northeast of Saigon and has been going on since May 16. The U.S. command credited the combined force with killing 390 Viet Cong since then and capturing 31, while sustaining light casualties themselves.

Cardboard Jail Wall Replaced

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—The detention cells in the Springfield Courthouse have been keeping a secret for years — one wall was made of heavy cardboard.

The wall was painted to match the other, more solid walls of the cell block.

A curious policeman, not a prisoner, made the discovery Thursday. Springfield police have been using the courthouse cells for detention while a new station is being built.

Work began right away to make the fake wall secure.

Youth Baseball Candy Sale Slated To Start Saturday

FIRST SALE—Gregg Hoskins sells the first box of candy to Lt. Fred Howell of the Circleville Fire Department as the annual Youth Baseball Program candy sale gets under way. Looking on are Perri Hoskins, Fireman Chet Echard and Fireman Martin Garner. Gregg is a member of Bingham Drugs in the Little League and Perri plays with Hill Implement in the Mosquito League. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hoskins, 121 Parkview Ave.

The streets of Circleville will be swamped with youthful baseball players Saturday when the annual candy sale gets under way.

Sponsored by the Circleville Youth Baseball Program, Inc., the candy sale annually produces an income of more than $1,000 for the program. It is the only fund raising function in which the participants themselves are actually involved.

Candy will be distributed to managers in the Mosquito League, and both divisions of the Little League tonight at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds. The youngsters hit the streets in a concentrated effort tomorrow to sell as much of the candy as possible in one day.

THIS YEAR the youth baseball program provides supervised, competitive recreation for more than 400 boys. The youth function provides recreation during scheduled games, plus most teams hold practice sessions one or more times a week.

Surveyor Sends

soft landing on the moon, was hailed as a significant advance in the race to land men on the lunar surface by 1970.

It also brought from President Johnson, along with praise, a renewed call for preserving the reaches of space for peaceful, scientific activities.

"Overnight," Johnson said, "the eyes of Surveyor 1 have become the eyes of the world on the moon. Another exciting chapter in the peaceful exploration of the universe is open for men to read and share."

The Russian camera-carrying Luna 9 — a 200-pound ball designed to survive an impact that would have killed a man — sent back nine moon pictures Feb. 3. Russia, like the President, has proposed a treaty and barring of weapons from celestial bodies.

United Nations Secretary-General U Thant, in a congratulatory telegram to the President, said the U. S. achievement and recent statements by the United States and Russia on the need for a treaty on moon exploration "should give us all renewed faith in our ability to work together towards the establishment of a meaningful peace on our planet."

Like Thursday's series of 144 pictures, those from Surveyor today showed the undamaged spacecraft, the terrain around it and the distant horizon.

One shot of the horizon 1½ miles away showed small craters in the distance.

Another, aimed almost straight down at the ground, five feet away, depicted gravel-like objects on the apparently hard-packed surface. Some were one-eighth to one-half inch in diameter.

Michigan Asked to River Study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes asked the State of Michigan today to participate in a joint project to curb pollution and flooding of two northwestern Ohio rivers.
Rhodes, in a letter to Michigan Gov. George Romney, said plans to build dams to solve the problems depend on Michigan which would have to turn over some of its land for reservoirs.
According to Rhodes, the Maumee Watershed Conservancy District in Ohio plans to build the dams "but lacks legal authority to acquire right-of-way easements and fees in Michigan required by reservoir construction."

Ohio Natural Resources Director Fred E. Morr told Rhodes earlier that "flooding along the Tiffin River and sediment from the Tiffin River watershed, which is adding materially to the growing pollution of the Maumee River, is largely created from the drainage basin located with the state of Michigan."
However, Morr said officials of the Maumee Watershed Conservancy District were informed by the federal government that much of the dam construction could be financed through the Small Watershed Act.

"The federal government would assume the cost of land treatment and construction of structures for water impoundment, but local interests must acquire the land for the projects," Morr said.
The natural resources director suggested the problem could be solved if Michigan would contract to provide the right-of-way easements and fee land pertinent to the reservoir construction and development.

Surveyor Sends

soft landing on the moon, was hailed as a significant advance in the race to land men on the lunar surface by 1970.
It also brought from President Johnson, along with praise, a renewed call for preserving the reaches of space for peaceful, scientific activities.
"Overnight," Johnson said, "the eyes of Surveyor 1 have become the eyes of the world on the moon. Another exciting chapter in the peaceful exploration of the universe is open for men to read and share."

The Russian camera-carrying Luna 9 — a 200-pound ball designed to survive an impact that would have killed a man — sent back nine moon pictures Feb. 3. Russia, like the President, has proposed a treaty and barring of weapons from celestial bodies.
United Nations Secretary-General U Thant, in a congratulatory telegram to the President, said the U. S. achievement and recent statements by the United States and Russia on the need for a treaty on moon exploration "should give us all renewed faith in our ability to work together towards the establishment of a meaningful peace on our planet."

Like Thursday's series of 144 pictures, those from Surveyor today showed the undamaged spacecraft, the terrain around it and the distant horizon.
One shot of the horizon 1 1/4 miles away showed small craters in the distance.
Another, aimed almost straight down at the ground, five feet away, depicted gravel-like objects on the apparently hard-packed surface. Some were one-eighth to one-half inch in diameter.

The plant employs more than 200 persons. It was the third explosion in the plant since it was founded here in 1931, and five persons died in the previous blasts.
Highway patrolmen and news-men were banned from entering the plant grounds until the preliminary investigation had been completed.
Local residents said because of the frequent sonic booms of military plans in this area they had not paid much attention to the noise of the explosion at first. Later reports of the blast and casualties began to drift into the town, a community of about 1,500 persons.

Sheriff Harold Steele said he was told by company officials that the blast came about 15 minutes after the plant had started the day's operations, and took place in a "jelly-mix" wooden building isolated from other plant structures.
He said he was told the explosion originated in a wooden mixing kettle holding the ingredients for TNT.

Most of the bodies were badly dismembered by the blast.
None of the other buildings on the plant grounds was reported to have been damaged.

'Sidewalk Sale' Discussion Due At Tuesday Meet
Circleville's annual "Sidewalk Sale" will be the discussion topic when the local Area Chamber of Commerce Retail Merchants Committee meets Tuesday for a breakfast session.

The meeting, slated at Noel's King Boy on Lancaster Pike from 7 to 8 a. m., has been called by Ward Skinner, retail merchants chairman.
Skinner said all retailers are welcome to attend the planning session, along with guests they may desire to bring.
The annual sidewalk event has become a popular project here since its inception several years ago. Another successful venture appears in the making for next month.

Boost Asked In Social Security Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed today a blanket increase in Social Security benefits for all those on the rolls now and those who will be in the future. He mentioned no specific figures.
Johnson said he has directed Secretary of Welfare John Gardner to have a program for increased benefits ready for the next session of Congress.
And the President promised the increases would have "a high and major priority."
Johnson's pledge to strive for higher Social Security benefits was made in a White House speech to delegates to a convention of the National Council of Senior Citizens.
Johnson told the delegates that while he has signed into law increases of more than $1.5 billion a year in Social Security benefits, "too many of our older citizens are still struggling along on shoestring incomes, suffering real hardship and real need."

with a Buddhist flag.
The locale of the self-immolation indicated the act probably had the approval of monks at the pagoda. The Buddhist struggle movement remains strong in Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, although Ky's troops crushed the Buddhist-led uprising there last month.
There was no word of any disorders in Hue, the Buddhist stronghold 400 miles northeast of Saigon which Ky's soldiers took control of Thursday without bloodshed.

Buddhist leaders appealed earlier this week for a halt to "self-sacrifice" — they do not use the word suicide. But even after the agreement with the government was announced Wednesday 20 nuns and monks threatened to set themselves aflame on the grounds of the Buddhist Institute.

The military junta meanwhile seemed to be running into difficulties on its request to the United Nations for observers for the Sept. 11 election of a constitutional convention. South Viet Nam's permanent observer at U.N. headquarters in New York made the request of Secretary-General U Thant Thursday.

The proposal got immediate endorsement from President Johnson, Arthur J. Goldberg, the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, said after a meeting with the president that the United States "wholeheartedly and in full measure" supported the request, adding it showed the South Vietnamese government's earnest desire for a fair, honest and representative vote.

At U.N. headquarters, however, the South Vietnamese request was given slight chance of success. Diplomats doubted that Thant would send U.N. observers to South Viet Nam without Security Council approval. They speculated that if the council did take up the request, either it wouldn't get enough votes for approval or the Soviet Union and perhaps France would veto it.

Gemini 9 Shot Is Tried Again

Twice before, the astronauts had sweated out the countdown, then dejectedly rode the slow elevator back to the ground when the mission was scrubbed.

As they entered the elevator today, they grinned broadly when they read this sign on the door:

"Tom and Gene: Notice, the down capability for this elevator has been removed. Let's have a good flight." It was signed, "The spacecraft crew."

As the new countdown moved along smoothly on schedule, the target satellite with which they will rendezvous in the skies was whirling around toward the Cape in its 29th orbit of the earth. It was launched Wednesday before the Gemini shot was washed out by communications failures.

"We sure hope they make it today," said astronaut Donald K. Slayton as Stafford and Cernan donned spacesuits for the flight. "It's been a struggle."

When the astronauts climbed out of the elevator to enter the spacecraft, they found a poem attached to it and signed by their backup crew, James A. Lovell Jr. and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr.

It read:
"We were kidding before.
"But not any more.
"Get yourselves into space.
"Or we'll take your place."

In their ride to Pad 19, Stafford and Cernan carried a large, mock match, saying it was to help them get off the ground. Stafford looked at Slayton and said, "Let's go do it."

The postponements, adding up to 17 days, placed the launching attempt on an important anniversary in U.S. space flight.

Views on Television - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Selecting popular television shows, sometimes before they are much more developed than an idea, once was considered to be a special art, even a gift. But now picking winners is becoming a science, with computers able to toss out predictions of future hits and misses six months in advance of their premieres.

One of the large advertising agencies — Kenyon and Eckhardt — has been experimenting with computer predictions for the past two years, with an estimated 67 per cent of success. In its third run, predicting the popularity of next fall's new programs, the magic machine pronounced, among many other things, that "T. H. E. Cat," "Taran" and "Hey, Landlord" on NBC and "It's About Time" on CBS would be the biggest hits among three dozen new programs.

"But, remember," cautioned the agency's executive vice

Saxbe Disavows $800,000 Highway Land Proposal

CLEVELAND (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe told probate judge Frank J. Merrick Thursday he was against the $800,000 out-of-court settlement negotiated in a land deal by three of his assistants.

The terms, agreed upon last month, were that the state would pay the $800,000 for 16.5 acres of land in suburban Brook Park needed for an Interstate 71 interchange.

However, he noted that T.H. Eovard, deputy highway director in charge of rights-of-way, had approved the settlement and that the attorney general's office was merely the Highway Department's legal representative.

"Mr. Eovard was present at the time this agreement was made," Saxbe said in court. "He is our client and he is still in the position of going through with this settlement if he chooses."

"We would simply note on the journal entry that we have read it but not agreed on it. But I think the people of Ohio are entitled to have this case tried." Thursday's informal hearing was called by Judge Merrick, before whom the agreement was reached, to discuss the journal entry that would have made the settlement final and to hear the attorney general's objections.

The judge said he would rule on the status of the case after consulting with State Highway Director P. E. Masheter. He said he would ask Masheter whether the Highway Department would abide by the earlier settlement agreement or wanted a full-scale hearing.

Masheter and Eovard said in Columbus Thursday night they would insist on a full jury trial. The land consists of 12 parcels owned by various holding companies of Forest City Enterprises, Inc.

The state originally offered $325,000 for the land, but the higher price was agreed to after it was brought out that the owners had obtained building permits from Brook Park for construction of apartment houses on the property, thus increasing its value. The land was acquired in 1950 at slightly more than $1,500 an acre.

Gemini 9 Shot Is Tried Again

Twice before, the astronauts had sweated out the countdown, then dejectedly rode the slow elevator back to the ground when the mission was scrubbed.

As they entered the elevator today, they grinned broadly when they read this sign on the door:

"Tom and Gene: Notice, the down capability for this elevator has been removed. Let's have a good flight." It was signed, "The spacecraft crew."

As the new countdown moved along smoothly on schedule, the target satellite which they will rendezvous in the skies was whirling around toward the Cape in its 29th orbit of the earth. It was launched Wednesday before the Gemini shot was washed out by communications failures.

"We sure hope they make it today," said astronaut Donald K. Slayton as Stafford and Cernan donned space suits for the flight. "It's been a struggle."

When the astronauts climbed out of the elevator to enter the spacecraft, they found a poem attached to it and signed by their backup crew, James A. Lovell Jr. and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr.

It read:
"We were kidding before.
"But not any more.
"Get yourselves into space.
"Or we'll take your place."

In their ride to Pad 19, Stafford and Cernan carried a large, mock match, saying it was to help them get off the ground. Stafford looked at Slayton and said, "Let's go do it."

The postponements, adding up to 17 days, placed the launching attempt on an important anniversary in U.S. space flight.

One year ago today Edward H. White II became the first American to walk in space as he stepped outside the Gemini 4 craft manned by James A. McDivitt.

Cernan plans to extend man's knowledge in this exciting and important field Saturday by taking a 2½-hour celestial stroll, propelling himself about with a rocket-powered back pack.

The space twins were to chase the satellite — called ATDA, for Augmented Target Docking Adapter — at 17,500 miles an hour over a 76,000-mile course, catching it four hours later high above the western Pacific Ocean.

When they are within eyesight of the barrel-shaped ATDA they will be able to determine whether the shroud is on or off. The order in which they exercise various assignments will depend on the shroud.

This element of suspense was added to the flight when ground stations Wednesday received an indication that the ATDA shroud did not eject as planned after the rocket pushed up through the heavy portion of the earth's atmosphere.

Officials weren't sure the 90-inch, 300-pound covering was still in place. Radar tracking devices of the North American Air Defense Command detected 11 pieces flying in formation in the general area of the ATDA and the Atlas rocket that pushed it into orbit.

Most of the pieces were believed to be debris from the Atlas, but officials were hopeful a couple of them might be the two halves of the shroud.

The shroud covers the docking collar into which the Gemini 9 nose was to be inserted during the docking. If the cover was still in place, the docking plan would have to be abandoned, but the target would still be useful for rendezvous practice.

The crowded flight plan for the three-day mission called for nine separate dockings with the ATDA — if the shroud was off, three different types of rendezvous with the satellite, and Cernan's space walk.

The rendezvous with the 11-foot-long ATDA was scheduled to occur two hours sooner than the interval required for the Gemini 8 pilots to catch their Agena satellite. Astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and David R. Scott achieved history's first space docking of two space vehicles in March shortly before a jet thruster failure forced them to make an emergency landing.

Stafford said the Gemini rendezvous maneuvers would be similar in execution and time span to those which two moon-landing astronauts would have to make in returning to their mother ship in lunar orbit before starting the trip back to earth.

Two additional rendezvous were planned later in the flight. One would practice locating the ATDA without the use of radar; the second would simulate the mother ship going down to the rescue of two astronauts who started to descend to the moon but decided for some reason not to land.

Cernan planned to start man's longest space walk Saturday morning, slipping into a strange weightless world where only two other men have ventured.

Russian cosmonaut Alexei Leonov and American astronaut White made short space walks of 10 and 21 minutes, respectively, last year and demonstrated that man can survive for at least short periods outside an orbiting space ship.

Views on Television — Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Selecting popular television shows, sometimes before they are much more developed than an idea, once was considered to be a special art, even a gift. But now picking winners is becoming a science, with computers able to toss out predictions of future hits and misses six months in advance of their premieres.

One of the large advertising agencies — Kenyon and Eckhardt — has been experimenting with computer predictions for the past two years, with an estimated 67 per cent of success. In its third run, predicting the popularity of next fall's new programs, the magic machine pronounced, among many other things, that "T. H. E. Cat", "Taran" and "Hey, Landlord" on NBC and "It's About Time" on CBS would be the biggest hits among three dozen new programs.

"But, remember," cautioned the agency's executive vice

The electronic crystal ball is programmed with national Nielsen ratings taken during January and February, peak viewing months, to predict future popularity of programs already in existence. These are augmented by statistics of another ratings service, which attempt to measure, of audience size but the degree to which audiences enjoy certain programs. To measure future interest in new shows — some, like the forthcoming Milton Berle and Garry Moore shows, are not even in production yet — the agency uses a service specializing in what it calls "concept testing." An audience sample has a program idea described to them, and notes down whether it appeals or not.

Saxbe Disavows $800,000 Highway Land Proposal

CLEVELAND (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe told probate judge Frank J. Merrick Thursday he was against the $800,000 out-of-court settlement negotiated in a land deal by three of his assistants.

The terms, agreed upon last month, were that the state would pay the $800,000 for 16.5 acres of land in suburban Brook Park needed for an Interstate 71 interchange.

However, he noted that T.H. Lovard, deputy highway director in charge of rights-of-way, had approved the settlement and that the attorney general's office was merely the Highway Department's legal representative.

"Mr. Bovard was present at the time this agreement was made," Saxbe said in court. "He is our client and he is still in the position of going through with this settlement if he chooses."

"We would simply note on the journal entry that we have read it but not agreed on it. But I think the people of Ohio are entitled to have this case tried."

Thursday's informal hearing was called by Judge Merrick, before whom the agreement was reached, to discuss the journal entry that would have made the settlement final and to hear the attorney general's objections.

The judge said he would rule on the status of the case after consulting with State Highway Director P. E. Masheter. He said he would ask Masheter whether the Highway Department would abide by the earlier settlement agreement or wanted a full-scale hearing.

Masheter and Bovard said in Columbus Thursday night they would insist on a full jury trial. The land consists of 12 parcels owned by various holding companies of Forest City Enterprises, Inc.

The state originally offered $325,000 for the land, but the higher price was agreed to after it was brought out that the owners had obtained building permits from Brook Park for construction of apartment houses on the property, thus increasing its value. The land was acquired in 1950 at slightly more than $1,500 an acre.

Perry, arrested May 4 shortly after Mrs. Jean Marie Collins, 33, was shot to death and Charles E. Collins, 46, was wounded in the couple's Cincinnati home, was indicted Thursday in the shootings.

Room for Only One

French families now have a wider choice of names to christen their children. Yes, it's fact.

In France the government regulates the naming of babies. The law is based on a decree signed by Napoleon in 1803 limiting acceptable first names to those of saints on Roman Catholic calendars. The law has been amended, of course, but remained restrictive.

The other day the minister of justice liberalized it a little more. Now acceptable are names of mythological figures, names current in foreign languages, quaint medieval Christian names, and abbreviations such as "Ginette" for Genevieve or "line" for Micheline.

Still barred as first names are words "referring to political events" and names of things, animals or people.

There is one other prohibition. In France, one cannot name his child "De Gaulle." Le Grand Charles apparently is determined there's to be only one of him.

Many Wars in Viet Nam

By John Chamberlain

To the average American, it looks as though the South Vietnamese were being consumed by a war within a war. And there is no denying that there is a struggle going on in which militant Buddhists (themselves a minority of a religious grouping that represents only a third of the nation), the Catholics (another minority), and various nationalists who do not stress their religious affiliations, are all trying to "position" themselves for elections. To a Communist sitting in the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi, the South Vietnamese war within a war must seem providential. Why deal with a divided enemy?

But this, to any Communist who knows his Marx, is only one-half of the story. To the trained Communist eye it must seem that the Americans themselves in South Vietnam are fighting a war within a war that parallels the struggle between the Ky government and the Buddhist forces of Thich Tri Quang. And why deal with a doubly divided enemy?

Indeed, anyone attuned to subtleties catches hints of a struggle between Ambassador Lodge on the one hand and certain people who are known to work with the CIA and at certain levels of the State Department on the other. Lodge, in practical effect, supports the Ky-Van Thieu junta. So, for that matter, does the U.S. local commander, General Westmoreland, if only because he wants to get on with the war against the Communists. Lodge has been lukewarm about elections. He authorized American planes to move Ky's troops north in the first (and abortive) effort to hold Da Nang against the Buddhists, and some who talked with him during his recent trip to Washington say that it was on Lodge's advice that Ky made his second (and this time successful) descent on Da Nang, which is the second city in South Vietnam and the key to the "Buddhist country" of the north.

Working at cross-purposes to Lodge, however, there are those lesser U.S. officials in South Vietnam who make such statements to reporters as the one which contemptuously likened General Ky to a "young horse" — you get him all clamed down and going fine and then a sparrow jumps up and gets him all excited again. This makes a vivid image, but it is fundamentally stupid. The more certain truth, according to such an old Vietnamese hand as Professor Luther Allen of the University of Massachusetts and Huynh Sanh Thong, who teaches in the department of Southeast Asia studies at Yale, is that Ky and his Chief of State, Nguyen Van Thieu have earned their spurs as strong nationalists. Certainly Ky's victory over the Buddhists at Da Nang was not the action of a colt frightened by a sparrow.

Instead of displeasing Americans, any evidence that Ky and Van Thieu can hold their country together in one piece should be welcome. What would anyone think if America itself were fighting Communist infiltrators from a hypothetical Red Canada and a Republican (say Air Force General Barry Goldwater) took it in his head to stage a revolt in the Chicago area against Commander-in-Chief Lyndon Johnson? Or what if a hypothetically dissident Neville Chamberlain had grabbed an area around Manchester during World War II and announced that "the Churchill government in London must permit free elections"? Putting it in such terms, it is obvious that Ky had to establish his authority as paramount until such time as a Constitution can be written for South Vietnam and a democratic government can be elected. Otherwise dissolution might really have set in. It was Karl Marx himself who said, "no nation can tolerate a Vendee (a rebellious French province) at its heart."

Secretary of State Dean Rusk is supposed to have been taken by surprise when General Ky said his junta would, despite the promise of elections, rule for a year. But surely it will take a year to elect delegates to a convention, get a fundamental Constitutional document written, and then hold an election under the Constitution. Ky was just talking sense, and Rusk read him right.

The division between the South Vietnamese and the parallel division between their American advisers may not be wholly healed for a long time. But it is my guess that the Hanoi government will not be brought to any conference table until both sets of divisions are firmly under control.

Lady Accountant, Excellent Bride

By BILL DEAN
(For Hal Boyle)

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — She's a bright-eyed blonde with a wild and wonderful Watousi?

In the kitchen she's a regular Mary Margaret McBride?

Break it to her gently, boy. She's not for you.

The way to pick a wife is the way. Edgar Hoover picks a Gunman. Find a girl who's an accountant or an attorney.

A wife should be a helpmate. Think you need help in the kitchen? Not with television dinners, not with cakes that come in boxes, not with electric dishwashers you don't.

A married man's problem is not food. It's his bank account, his income tax, his hospitalization insurance, his time payments.

It's not the chick's figure you should be interested in — it's the way she figures. The emphasis is on the fiscal, not the physical.

Right at the beginning you'll need one of those big beer coolers the girls call refrigerators. Is it cheaper to pay $3.37 a week on a time payment contract the credit department chokes at you, or should you borrow the money from your company credit union at one per cent a month? Cash? That's that?

A bright girl with an abacus in her purse can give you the straight pitch before you have time to make your first big mistake.

Marriage is the sound institution it is today because we protect ourselves against unforeseen emergencies with things like major medical insurance. All that is required from the insured is a payroll deduction, a big filing cabinet and a clever bookkeeper with plenty of time to keep records, correspond with the medical and dental professions, and make a few trigonometric computations.

There's also hospital insurance, surgical insurance, accident insurance, mortgage, fire and wind insurance on your house, liability insurance, insurance covering repairs to the television set and washing machine, five kinds of car insurance, camera insurance, and life insurance on everybody including the dog.

In early spring comes the Form 1040. You've finally saved a buck and invested it — wisely if you listened to a wife who has had time to digest brokers' reports and pour over the financial pages every day. Now you discover Schedule D. Do you have a long-term capital loss carry-over from preceding taxable years? Or a gain from disposition of depreciable property under sections 1245 and 1250?

If you played your cards right in the beginning, you can be playing pool while your wife works this all out.

It's true the supply of lady lawyers and accountants available for marriage is limited. But there are alternatives. For instance, a girl who can repair electrical appliances will save you a mint.

Or you can fall back on the classic solution. Marry a rich widow.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

DEAN MARTIN, the most relaxed, devil-may-care star in the history of television, has come up with a new song title that holds promise of great things: "It's June in January—'Cause I'm in Australia!" "I've licked worry," confides Dean, "because I now drink moderately. In fact, I'm never without a case or two of Moderately in my dressing room."

Lucille Ball, watching Dean Martin do a full hour's show on TV without a single rehearsal, marveled, "That so-and-so makes cooked spaghetti look tense!"

When Victoria Lincoln, author of "February Hill," was a little girl of ten, the garden of her Fall River home abutted that of the aging Lizzie Borden, star of New England's most famous murder case. One day Victoria's mother was horrified to discover her precious darling tagging after Miss Borden in the latter's garden. She was rushed into the house, and ordered never, never to go near Miss Borden again.

"But why, mother?" demanded Victoria. Her mother's classic reply was, "You see, Victoria, that lady was very UNKIND to her mother and father!"

All of which, in turn, brings to mind the old rhyme:

"Lizzie Borden took an axe
And gave her mother forty whacks.
And when she saw what she had done
She gave her father forty-one."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

We have just learned that our 12-year-old daughter has epilepsy.

She had fallen down the school steps on four different occasions and once had to be hospitalized for skull injuries. We, as parents, were irritated and assumed that she was clumsy and careless.

We feel terribly guilty that this condition had been overlooked and want to give our daughter maximum help now that we have discovered the real reason for her accidents.

How can we retrain ourselves to do this?

Mrs. D. W., Illinois

Dear Mrs. W.: There are two distinct aspects of this problem. Both must be placed in their proper position to each other in order that your daughter will be given the greatest advantage to become a total, happy human being.

The first, of course, is the epilepsy itself. It is, indeed, fortunate that the real cause other falls has been finally established.

Epilepsy has in the past 20 years emerged from the confusion of superstitions, myths and prejudice. The realization that epilepsy does not indicate a form of mental retardation, insanity or mental disorder has given the epileptic his real right to live as a productive, happy human being.

Epilepsy is a physical disorder that does not threaten anyone but the victim himself. This disorder is one that interferes with the electric impulses of the brain. The name epilepsy comes from the Greek word meaning, "seizure."

There are a number of different forms of these seizures. The "petit mal," or small seizure, is relatively mild. These attacks last sometimes only for a few minutes, and may, as in the case of your daughter, go unnoticed.

The "grand mal," or large

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — Rising interest rates have been blamed for many things:

For causing nervous investors to sell stocks.

For chilling the hopes for a revival of an ailing housing industry.

For forcing some businesses to shelve expansion plans.

For discouraging some prospective new car buyers.

For causing some state and local governments to withdraw bond offerings to finance public projects.

But the interest rates in the United States, although much higher than a year or two back, are still well below those in most other leading industrial nations.

And most lenders here scoff at the argument that heftier borrowing charges are slowing the business boom. They point instead to the increased demand for loans in most fields, if not for home mortgages or new cars. The problem, the bankers say, is to lure more savers their way, by paying savers higher interest, so the banks can lend more, at the higher interest rate.

In the United States today, short-term lending rates start at 5 1/2 per cent. This is the lowest figure at which businesses of the highest credit rating can get a bank loan on an unsecured basis. Most bank customers have to pay more than this prime rate. And the charges vary from region to region and even city to city.

In only two other of the major industrial countries is the prime, or lowest, rate lower than here. In France and Japan it is slightly below 5 1/2 per cent. In Switzerland the prime rate ranges from 5 1/4 per cent to 6 per cent, depending upon type of loans. Canada's 6 per cent prime rate has been under fire from bankers who would like to see it higher.

Rates from 6 to 7 per cent

prevail in the Netherlands, West Germany, Britain and Belgium. Italian rates are complex but average 7 1/2 per cent, and in Sweden the prime rate is as high as 7 per cent.

But in less industrially developed countries the businessman really has to pay when he borrows. Bank rates in Latin America range from 10 per cent in Ecuador to 24 per cent in Brazil. Mostly this is due to shortages of capital, but rapid depreciation of money also plays a large part.

French families now have a wider choice of names to christen their children. Yes, it's fact.

In France the government regulates the naming of babies. The law is based on a decree signed by Napoleon in 1803 limiting acceptable first names to those of saints on Roman Catholic calendars. The law has been amended, of course, but remained restrictive.

The other day the minister of justice liberalized it a little more. Now acceptable are names of mythological figures, names current in foreign languages, quaint medieval Christian names, and abbreviations such as "Ginette" for Genevieve or "line" for Micheline.

Still barred as first names are words "referring to political events" and names of things, animals or people.

There is one other prohibition. In France, one cannot name his child "De Gaulle." Le Grand Charles apparently is determined there's to be only one of him.

Many Wars in Viet Nam

By John Chamberlain

To the average American, it looks as though the South Vietnamese were being consumed by a war within a war. And there is no denying that there is a struggle going on in which militant Buddhists (themselves a minority of a religious grouping that represents only a third of the nation), the Catholics (an even smaller minority), and various nationalists who do not stress their religious affiliations, are all trying to "position" themselves for elections. To a Communist sitting in the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi, the South Vietnamese war within a war must seem providential. Why deal with a divided enemy?

But this, to any Communist who knows his Marx, is only one half of the story. To the trained Communist eye it must seem that the Americans themselves in South Vietnam are fighting a war within a war that parallels the struggle between the Ky government and the Buddhist forces of Thich Tri Quang. And why deal with a doubly divided enemy?

Indeed, anyone attuned to subtleties catches hints of a struggle between Ambassador Lodge on the one hand and certain people who are known to work with the CIA and at certain levels of the State Department on the other. Lodge, in practical effect, supports the Ky-Van Thieu junta. So, for that matter, does the U.S. local commander, General Westmoreland, if only because he wants to get on with the war against the Communists. Lodge has been lukewarm about elections. He authorized American planes to move Ky troops north in the first (and abortive) effort to hold Da Nang against the Buddhists, and some who talked with him during his recent trip to Washington say that it was on Lodge's advice that Ky made his second (and this time successful) descent on Da Nang, which is the second city in South Vietnam and the key to the "Buddhist country" of the north.

Working at cross-purposes to Lodge, however, there are those lesser U.S. officials in South Vietnam who make such statements to reporters as the one which contemptuously likened General Ky to a "young horse" — you get him all clamed down and going fine and then a sparrow jumps up and gets him all excited again. This makes a vivid image, but it is fundamentally stupid. The more certain truth, according to such an old Vietnamese hand as Professor Luther Allen of the University of Massachusetts and Huynh Sanh Thong, who teaches in the department of Southeast Asia studies at Yale, is that Ky and his Chief of State, Nguyen Van Thieu have earned their spurs as strong nationalists. Certainly Ky's victory over the Buddhists at Da Nang was not the action of a colt frightened by a sparrow.

Instead of displeasing Americans, any evidence that Ky and Van Thieu can hold their country together in one piece should be welcome. What would anyone think if America itself were fighting Communist infiltrators from a hypothetical Red Canada and a Republican (say Air Force General Barry Goldwater) took it in his head to stage a revolt in the Chicago area against Commander-in-Chief Lyndon Johnson? Or what if a hypothetically dissident Neville Chamberlain had grabbed an area around Manchester during World War II and announced that "the Churchill government in London must permit free elections"? Putting it in such terms, it is obvious that Ky had to establish his authority as paramount until such time as a Constitution can be written for South Vietnam and a democratic government can be elected. Otherwise dissolution might really have set in. It was Karl Marx himself who said, "no nation can tolerate a Vendee (a rebellious French province) at its heart."

Secretary of State Dean Rusk is supposed to have been taken by surprise when General Ky said his junta would, despite the promise of elections, rule for a year. But surely it will take a year to elect delegates to a convention, get a fundamental Constitutional document written, and then hold an election under the Constitution. Ky was just talking sense, and Rusk read him right.

The division between the South Vietnamese and the parallel division between their American advisers may not be wholly healed for a long time. But it is my guess that the Hanoi government will not be brought to any conference table until both sets of divisions are firmly under control.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

DEAN MARTIN, the most relaxed, devil-may-care star in the history of television, has come up with a new song title that holds promise of great things: "It's June in January." "Cause I'm in Australia!" "I've licked worry," confides Dean, "because I now drink moderately. In fact, I'm never without a case or two of Moderately in my dressing room."

Lucille Ball, watching Dean Martin do a full hour's show on TV without a single rehearsal, marveled, "That so-and-so makes cooked spaghetti look tense!"

When Victoria Lincoln, author of "February Hill," was a little girl of ten, the garden of her Fall River home abutted that of the aging Lizzie Borden, star of New England's most famous murder case. One day Victoria's mother was horrified to discover her precious darling tagging after Miss Borden in the latter's garden. She was rushed into the house, and ordered never, never to go near Miss Borden again.

"But why, mother?" demanded Victoria. Her mother's classic reply was, "You see, Victoria, that lady was very UNKIND to her mother and father!"

All of which, in turn, brings to mind the old rhyme:

"Lizzie Borden took an axe
And gave her mother forty whacks.
And when she saw what she had done
She gave her father forty-one."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

We have just learned that our 12-year-old daughter has epilepsy.

She had fallen down the school steps on four different occasions and once had to be hospitalized for skull injuries. We, as parents, were irritated and assumed that she was clumsy and careless.

We feel terribly guilty that this condition had been overlooked and want to give our daughter maximum help now that we have discovered the real reason for her accidents.

How can we retrain ourselves to do this?

Mrs. D. W., Illinois

Dear Mrs. W.: There are two distinct aspects of this problem. Both must be placed in their proper position to each other in order that your daughter will be given the greatest advantage to become a total, happy human being.

The first, of course, is the epilepsy itself. It is, indeed, fortunate that the real cause other falls has been finally established.

Epilepsy has in the past 20 years emerged from the confusion of superstitions, myths and prejudice. The realization that epilepsy does not indicate a form of mental retardation, insanity or mental disorder has given the epileptic his real right to live as a productive, happy human being.

Epilepsy is a physical disorder that does not threaten anyone but the victim himself. This disorder is one that interferes with the electric impulses of the brain. The name epilepsy comes from the Greek word meaning, "seizure."

There are a number of different forms of these seizures. The "petit mal," or small seizure, is relatively mild. These attacks last sometimes only for a few minutes, and may, as in the case of your daughter, go unnoticed.

The "grand mal," or large seizure, is the more alarming type to observers. It is gratifying that many people have learned to help the victims of such attacks and come to their support when they witness one. They loosen their collars or waist bands, place a spoon between their teeth and protect them from harming themselves.

Another form of seizure is the psychomotor form which shows itself in brief periods of unusual, unexpected behavior.

The second aspect of the problem is your sense of guilt. You must not chastise yourself and feel responsible for your daughter's epilepsy. Neither must you punish yourself because the true diagnosis was delayed. There is much to be done for your daughter and you cannot waste the energy that can constructively be used to help her.

Society has seen the light and no longer lives in the dark age of misconception about epilepsy. This understanding coupled with remarkable new drugs can, in most instances, return the epileptic to society without any stigma or shame.

Children must be taught not to cut into golf balls. They can explode and cause severe damage to the eyes.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — Rising interest rates have been blamed for many things:

For causing nervous investors to sell stocks.

For chilling the hopes for a revival of an ailing housing industry.

For forcing some businesses to shelve expansion plans.

For discouraging some prospective new car buyers.

For causing some state and local governments to withdraw bond offerings to finance public projects.

But the interest rates in the United States, although much higher than a year or two back, are still well below those in most other leading industrial nations.

And most lenders here scoff at the argument that heftier borrowing charges are slowing the business boom. They point instead to the increased demand for loans in most fields, if not for home mortgages or new cars. The problem, the bankers say, is to lure more savings their way, by paying savers higher interest, so the banks can lend more, at the higher interest rate.

In the United States today, short-term lending rates start at 7 1/2 per cent. This is the lowest figure at which businesses of the highest credit rating can get a bank loan on an unsecured basis. Most bank customers have to pay more than this prime rate. And the charges vary from region to region and even city to city.

In only two other of the major industrial countries is the prime, or lowest, rate lower than here. In France and Japan it is slightly below 5 1/2 per cent.

In Switzerland the prime rate ranges from 5 1/4 per cent to 6 per cent, depending upon type of loans. Canada's 6 per cent prime rate has been under fire from bankers who would like to see it higher.

Rates from 6 to 7 per cent

prevail in the Netherlands, West Germany, Britain and Belgium. Italian rates are complex but average 7 1/2 per cent, and in Sweden the prime rate is as high as 7 per cent.

But in less industrially developed countries the businessman really has to pay when he borrows. Bank rates in Latin America range from 10 per cent in Ecuador to 24 per cent in Brazil. Mostly this is due to shortages of capital, but rapid depreciation of money also plays a large part.

Lady Accountant, Excellent Bride

By BILL DEAN

(For Hal Boyle)

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — She's a bright-eyed blonde with a wild and wonderful Watatis?

In the kitchen she's a regular Mary Margaret McBride.

Break it to her gently, boy. She's not for you.

The way to pick a wife is the way. Edgar Hoover picks a Gunman. Find a girl who's an accountant or an attorney.

A wife should be a helpmate. Think you need help in the kitchen? Not with television dinners, not with cakes that come in boxes, not with electric dishwashers you don't.

A married man's problem is not food. It's his bank account, his income tax, his hospitalization insurance, his time payments.

It's not the chief's figure you should be interested in — it's the way she figures. The emphasis is on the fiscal, not the physical.

Right at the beginning you'll need one of those big beer coolers the girls call refrigerators. Is it cheaper to pay $3.37 a week on a time payment contract the credit department rhoves at you, or should you borrow the money from your company credit union at one per cent a month? Cash? That's that?

A bright girl with an abacus in her purse can give you the straight pitch before you have time to make your first big mistake.

Marriage is the sound institution it is today because we protect ourselves against unforeseen emergencies with things like major medical insurance. All that is required from the insured is a payroll deduction, a big filing cabinet and a clever bookkeeper with plenty of time to keep records, correspond with the medical and dental professions, and make a few trigonometric computations.

There's also hospital insurance, surgical insurance, accident insurance, mortgage, fire and wind insurance on your house, liability insurance, insurance covering repairs to the television set and washing machine, five kinds of car insurance, camera insurance, and life insurance on everybody including the dog.

In early spring comes the Form 1040. You've finally saved a buck and invested it — wisely if you listened to a wife who has had time to digest brokers' reports and pour over the financial pages every day. Now you discover Schedule D. Do you have a long-term capital loss carry-over from preceding taxable years? Or a gain from disposition of depreciable property under sections 1245 and 1250?

If you played your cards right in the beginning, you can be playing pool while your wife works this all out.

It's true the supply of lady lawyers and accountants available for marriage is limited. But there are alternatives. For instance, a girl who can repair electrical appliances will save you a mint.

Or you can fall back on the classic solution. Marry a rich widow.

Labor Chief Urges Shakeup Of Dem Party

CLEVELAND (AP) — The president of the United Steelworkers of America, criticizing U.S. Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, has urged Ohio labor to reorganize the state's Democratic Party.

J. W. Able, speaking to 2,200 delegates to the Ohio AFL-CIO convention Thursday said Lausche "has turned his back on the people of Cleveland. . . On the people of Ohio." Abel said Lausche has a better Republican voting record than U.S. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R.

"It's time the people of Ohio took recognition of this," Abel said. "Perhaps this convention will serve as the springboard."

Abel said he was "amazed" that there has not been a demand for the reorganization of the Democratic Party in Ohio. "One day somebody is going to face a tremendous problem in putting Ohio back together and making it a great and progressive state," he said.

Abel called for labor to unite with liberals and progressives and elect politicians who would do a responsible job for the people of Ohio.

Referring to a slogan by the administration of Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes, Abel said all is not wonderful in the "Wonderful World of Ohio."

There is the idea here that there is nothing wrong with Ohio that a few more jobs won't cure," he said. "We all recognize the need for jobs, but the mental inmate or school child doesn't need a job now."

Abel said the state hospitals and mental health programs were a "disgrace" and that education also suffers from administrative lack of support.

The convention, which ends today, re-elected State Sen. Frank J. King of Toledo as president and Robert P. Bollard of Cincinnati as secretary-treasurer. The election, scheduled for Thursday night when both men were nominated and no other candidates stepped forward.

King, Democratic leader in the Ohio Senate who is seeking re-election this year, has held the $16,000-a-year labor job

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pennsylvania's Gov. William W. Scranton gives no reason for his decision never to run for public office again—including the presidency—but perhaps it is because he is not "stirred up."

This was the reason he gave in 1964 for not seeking the Republican presidential nomination, which he later tried for after changing his mind.

But he sounds more positive now than when moderate Republicans teamed up behind him in an attempt to keep Barry Goldwater from the nomination. It's doubtful his chances in 1968 would be better than in 1964.

He was the reluctant dragon of Republican politics that year since 1964.

The delegates elect 24 vice presidents today to serve on the executive board. Eighteen of the present members are seeking re-election and those who have dropped out did so on their own.

when New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller was the only Republican who really put up a fight to try to stop Goldwater.

When Rockefeller failed, Scranton had to be practically pushed into opposing Goldwater, and then he got massacred.

His announcement Thursday that he was permanently out of the national picture came 11 days behind a similar one by Rockefeller who said he was out of the presidential running "for ever."

In the past Rockefeller, Goldwater and others at one time or another disclaimed any presidential desires, only to switch around. This time it sounds final with both Rockefeller and Scranton.

The latter said he would not again run for public office—he can't run to succeed himself as governor—under "any circumstances" and would not run for the presidency, the Senate, or Congress in "1968 or ever."

This was a lot more emphatic than in 1964 when his dilly-dallying used up time and in the end made it impossible for him to be a real contender against Goldwater. He was never more than a shadow contender.

Scranton, a millionaire, says he doesn't know what he will do when he finishes his term as governor. Would he back any other Republican for the presidential nomination two years from now?

Again he was typically cautious, saying that if Michigan's Gov. George Romney wants to run "I would give him very thorough consideration." This was a lot less firm than Rockefeller who, in taking himself out of any future presidential consideration, suggested Romney for the nomination.

Romney, like Rockefeller this year, is seeking a third term as governor and declined to talk about the presidency; at least for the time being.

After President Johnson defeated Goldwater in 1964 the latter blamed Rockefeller and Romney for not backing the Goldwater ticket. Scranton, who had denounced Goldwater before the convention, campaigned for him.

Some examples of Scranton's

reluctance and indecision the last time:

In 1963 he said he would accept the nomination if he was drafted. In February, 1964, he was saying a candidate for president to be effective must be "real stirred up about the issues."

He said he wasn't stirred up enough to be a good candidate although he would accept a draft. By early June he dropped mention of the draft, said he would be available for the nomination if the convention delegates wanted him, said he wouldn't try to stop Goldwater, and was quoted as saying "I can't see any basic differences" between himself and Goldwater.

But on June 12 he declared himself a candidate, called Goldwater's views a "weird parody" on Republican beliefs and called Goldwater's proposals "outlandish." He said they made Republicans look "naive." Then when Goldwater got the nomination, Scranton went out to beat the bushes for him.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Ernest L. Gray, who told police he had been drinking and could not remember choking a Cincinnati schoolteacher, has been sentenced to life imprisonment.

6,000 GIs in Germany 'Surrounded' by Communists

BERLIN (AP) —John Hancock Hay and the 6,000 other soldiers of U.S. Army Berlin are surrounded. They stand watch 110 miles inside Communist East Germany.

Both Brig Gen. Hay and the soldiers of the Berlin Brigade are proud of their unique status. As one tanker sergeant put it, "Who else is surrounded by the Russians and gets away with it?"

Hay finds things quieter than they were in the first 12 months after he arrived to take command, July 5, 1964.

"We've had our interesting moments, though," he adds, citing delays along the East Germany highway U.S. troops use going and coming from West Germany, illegal helicopter flights over West Berlin by the East Germans, and the "routine harassment" of U.S. patrols inside Communist East Berlin.

Since the U.S. forces in Berlin are not out looking for trouble, Hay considers it a job well done

if there are no major difficulties in helping maintain West Berlin as a free society while guarding the Allies' rights and practices.

Hay is 48, dark-haired, 6 feet 1 and 178 pounds. A parachutist and holder of the Silver Star, he reached general rank despite his entering the army as a Reservist, not a regular. He became a soldier after having worked as a forest ranger in the rim district of Oregon's Crater Lake.

World War II was spent with the 10th Mountain Division. He rose from platoon leader to battalion commander and saw combat in Italy. By war's end Hy was 27 and a lieutenant colonel.

He became a paratrooper at 42 and now has 70 jumps. He served as chief of staff of the 101st Airborne Division before doing a tour in Korea.

Promoted to brigadier general, he took over the Berlin Brigade, a command he considers the best in the Army for a one-star officer.

"I not only have a tactical command," he said, "I have my own support command, and the brigade does its own maintenance and budget planning. And there is the chance to work closely with the British and French as well as with the Germans."

"It's time the people of Ohio took recognition of this," Abel said. "Perhaps this convention will serve as the springboard."

Abel said he was "amazed" that there has not been a demand for the reorganization of the Democratic Party in Ohio. "One day somebody is going to face a tremendous problem in putting Ohio back together and making it a great and progressive state," he said.

Abel called for labor to unite with liberals and progressives and elect politicians who would do a responsible job for the people of Ohio.

Referring to a slogan by the administration of Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes, Abel said all is not wonderful in the "Wonderful World of Ohio."

There is the idea here that there is nothing wrong with Ohio that a few more jobs won't cure," he said. "We all recognize the need for jobs, but the mental inmate or school child doesn't need a job now."

Abel said the state hospitals and mental health programs were a "disgrace" and that education also suffers from administrative lack of support.

The convention, which ends today, re-elected State Sen. Frank J. King of Toledo as president and Robert P. Bolland of Cincinnati as secretary-treasurer. The election, scheduled for today, became automatic Thursday night when both men were nominated and no other candidates stepped forward.

King, Democratic leader in the Ohio Senate who is seeking re-election this year, has held the $16,000-a-year labor job

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pennsylvania's Gov. William W. Scranton gives no reason for his decision never to run for public office again—including the presidency—but perhaps it is because he is not "stirred up."

This was the reason he gave in 1964 for not seeking the Republican presidential nomination, which he later tried for after changing his mind.

But he sounds more positive now than when moderate Republicans teamed up behind him in an attempt to keep Barry Goldwater from the nomination. It's doubtful his chances in 1968 would be better than in 1964.

He was the reluctant dragon of Republican politics that year since 1964.

The delegates elect 24 vice presidents today to serve on the executive board. Eighteen of the present members are seeking re-election and those who have dropped out did so on their own.

when New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller was the only Republican who really put up a fight to stop Goldwater.

When Rockefeller failed, Scranton had to be practically pushed into opposing Goldwater, and then he got massacred.

His announcement Thursday that he was permanently out of the national picture came 11 days behind a similar one by Rockefeller who said he was out of the presidential running "for ever."

In the past Rockefeller, Goldwater and others at one time or another disclaimed any presidential desires, only to switch around. This time it sounds final with both Rockefeller and Scranton.

The latter said he would not again run for public office—he can't run to succeed himself as governor—under "any circumstances" and would not run for the presidency, the Senate, or Congress in "1968 or ever."

This was a lot more emphatic than in 1964 when his dilly-dallying used up time and in the end made it impossible for him to be a real contender against Goldwater. He was never more than a shadow contender.

Scranton, a millionaire, says he doesn't know what he will do when he finishes his term as governor. Would he back any other Republican for the presidential nomination two years from now?

Again he was typically cautious, saying that if Michigan's Gov. George Romney wants to run "I would give him very thorough consideration." This was a lot less firm than Rockefeller who, in taking himself out of any future presidential consideration, suggested Romney for the nomination.

Romney, like Rockefeller this year, is seeking a third term as governor and declined to talk about the presidency; at least for the time being.

After President Johnson defeated Goldwater in 1964 the latter blamed Rockefeller and Romney for not backing the Goldwater ticket. Scranton, who had denounced Goldwater before the convention, campaigned for him.

Some examples of Scranton's

reluctance and indecision the last time:

In 1963 he said he would accept the nomination if he was drafted. In February, 1964, he was saying a candidate for president to be effective must be "real stirred up about the issues."

He said he wasn't stirred up enough to be a good candidate although he would accept a draft. By early June he dropped mention of the draft, said he would be available for the nomination if the convention delegates wanted him, said he wouldn't try to stop Goldwater, and was quoted as saying "I can't see any basic differences" between himself and Goldwater.

But on June 12 he declared himself a candidate, called Goldwater's views a "weird parody" on Republican beliefs and called Goldwater's proposals "outlandish." He said they made Republicans look "naïve." Then when Goldwater got the nomination, Scranton went out to beat the bushes for him.

Patrol Nabs Bandit Soon after Robbery

CUYAHOGA FALLS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Highway Patrol arrested a Bedford man 10 minutes after the $1,270 holdup of the Evans Savings & Loan Co. Thursday and charged him with bank robbery.

6,000 GIs in Germany 'Surrounded' by Communists

BERLIN (AP) —John Hancock Hay and the 6,000 other soldiers of U.S. Army Berlin are surrounded. They stand watch 110 miles inside Communist East Germany.

Both Brig Gen. Hay and the soldiers of the Berlin Brigade are proud of their unique status. As one tanker sergeant put it, "Who else is surrounded by the Russians and gets away with it?"

Hay finds things quieter than they were in the first 12 months after he arrived to take command, July 5, 1964.

"We've had our interesting moments, though," he adds, citing delays along the East Germany highway U.S. troops use going and coming from West Germany, illegal helicopter flights over West Berlin by the East Germans, and the "routine harassment" of U.S. patrols inside Communist East Berlin.

Since the U.S. forces in Berlin are not out looking for trouble, Hay considers it a job well done

if there are no major difficulties in helping maintain West Berlin as a free society while guarding the Allies' rights and practices.

Hay is 48, dark-haired, 6 feet 1 and 178 pounds. A parachutist and holder of the Silver Star, he reached general rank despite his entering the army as a Reservist, not a regular. He became a soldier after having worked as a forest ranger in the rim district of Oregon's Crater Lake.

World War II was spent with the 10th Mountain Division. He rose from platoon leader to battalion commander and saw combat in Italy. By war's end Hy was 27 and a lieutenant colonel.

He became a paratrooper at 42 and now has 70 jumps. He served as chief of staff of the 101st Airborne Division before doing a tour in Korea.

Promoted to brigadier general, he took over the Berlin Brigade, a command he considers the best in the Army for a one-star officer.

"I not only have a tactical command," he said, "I have my own support command, and the brigade does its own maintenance and budget planning. And there is the chance to work closely with the British and French as well as with the Germans."

Computer Lacks Time To Practice Its Music

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — The electronic computer at Massachusetts Institute of Technology is doing well composing and playing music, says Ercolino Ferretti, an acoustics expert.

But, he says, because of demands on the computer by other researchers, the electronic device is "only able to practice 10 minutes a day."

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Some People Just Don't Read Signs

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have a collection of beer steins on our mantle in the front room, some of which are quite expensive. Why does EVERYONE, children and adults alike, have to pick them up and examine them while we hold our breaths for fear they will drop one?

We have told people over and over again to PLEASE not touch them, but they do anyway. My seven-year-old son suggested we put a sign on the mantle, "DO NOT TOUCH." Would this be proper?

DEAR WORRIED: Not only would it be improper, it would be ineffective. The world is full of "counter phobics," who go through life pushing doors marked PULL, and pulling doors marked PUSH.

And on freshly painted benches one can plainly see the fingerprints of doubting Thomases who don't believe in signs. So either put your collections out of reach or lock it in a china closet.

DEAR ABBY: We live in a first class apartment and pay high rent. We walk as lightly as possible so as not to disturb the tenants below us. We turn our TV down after 10 p.m., and ask our guests to keep the noise down out of consideration for our neighbors.

Last month a young couple moved in above us. I have never heard such noisy people! They are constantly running, dropping things and moving the furniture. And their TV blares until the wee hours. You'd swear they were about to come crashing through the ceiling at any moment.

I complained to the apartment manager and she suggested I speak to them, so I went up and asked the wife in a VERY nice way if they could be a little more quiet. Well, she practically slammed the door in my face!

Since then, out of spite, they have been noisier than ever. I complained to the manager again, and she said she was sorry but there was nothing she could do.

Our nerves are shot, Abby. We are not old cranks. We are reasonable people. What should we do? We have another two years to go on our lease.

DEAR STUMPED: Assuming the apartment manager is not the owner, appeal to the owner of the building. If that doesn't bring results, hunt up another apartment. And about that lease. Hunt up a lawyer.

DEAR ABBY: My girl friend's father will not allow me around their house until I have a regular boy's haircut. I don't think this is fair. Everybody else likes my hair the way it is and so do I. It goes over my ears and is quite long around the back, but I've seen boys with lots longer hair than mine.

I have had trouble at school with my teachers about my hairdo, but nobody has given me the bad time my girl's father has. I'm sure the kids would laugh at me if I suddenly showed up at school with a short haircut and I don't want to be laughed at. Please give me an answer besides "get a haircut."

LONG HAIR BOY: DEAR BOY: If you want to see your girl at her house, you had better get a haircut. You say you'll be "laughed at" at school if you appear with short hair. So, since it would take more manliness on your part to face the jeers of your contemporaries, I say, be a man, and sheer the locks.

And on freshly painted benches one can plainly see the fingerprints of doubting Thomases who don't believe in signs. So either put your collections out of reach or lock it in a china closet.

DEAR ABBY: We live in a first class apartment and pay high rent. We walk as lightly as possible so as not to disturb the tenants below us. We turn our TV down after 10 p. m., and ask our guests to keep the noise down out of consideration for our neighbors.

Last month a young couple moved in above us. I have never heard such noisy people! They are constantly running, dropping things and moving the furniture. And their TV blares until the wee hours. You'd swear they were about to come crashing through the ceiling at any moment.

I complained to the apartment manager and she suggested I speak to them, so I went up and asked the wife in a VERY nice way if they could be a little more quiet. Well, she practically slammed the door in my face!

Since then, out of spite, they have been noisier than ever. I complained to the manager again, and she said she was sorry but there was nothing she could do.

Our nerves are shot, Abby. We are not old cranks. We are reasonable people. What should we do? We have another two years to go on our lease.

DEAR STUMPED: Assuming the apartment manager is not the owner, appeal to the owner of the building. If that doesn't bring results, hunt up another apartment. And about that lease, hunt up a lawyer.

DEAR ABBY: My girl friend's father will not allow me around their house until I have a regular boy's haircut. I don't think this is fair. Everybody else likes my hair the way it is and so do I. It goes over my ears and is quite long around the back, but I've seen boys with lots longer hair than mine.

I have had trouble at school with my teachers about my hairdo, but nobody has given me the bad time my girl's father has. I'm sure the kids would laugh at me if I suddenly showed up at school with a short haircut and I don't want to be laughed at. Please give me an answer besides "get a haircut."

LONG HAIR BOY

DEAR BOY: If you want to see your girl at her house, you had better get a haircut. You say you'll be "laughed at" at school if you appear with short hair. So, since it would take more manliness on your part to face the jeers of your contemporaries, I say, be a man, and shear the locks.

And the only cost to the participant is his own glove and shoes. The uniform and protective equipment such as batting helmets and catcher gear is provided by the organization.

In addition, each individual is covered by an insurance program at practices as well as during regularly scheduled games.

Although the program is operated for the most part with volunteer help, it is none the less costly.

This year's budget, made out early in the winter, calls for expenditures totaling $4,618. Nearly half of this total is earmarked for equipment, such as baseballs, caps, bats, umpires equipment, uniform replacement and the like.

Insurance covering youths participating in the program annually costs about $800. The program supervisor, Kelly Boyer, receives a salary of $1,200. Of this amount, $800 is paid by the Youth Baseball Program and $400 by the Circleville Board of Education. The supervisor is the only salaried person involved in the program.

DIAMOND maintenance and repair is another large item of expense.

The program utilizes baseball fields at Ted Lewis Park, S. Court School, Atwater School and at the Fairgrounds.

This year a total of eight playing fields will be maintained and $550 has been budgeted for the care of the diamonds. There are many other incidental expenses.

After the budget was formulated, the Circleville Board of Education offered to donate lights at the old football field for the program. The Circleville Park Board granted permission for the youth baseball directors to install the lights at the little league diamond at Ted Lewis Park.

And so the board has taken on another project — that of installing lights to increase the program's capacity.

Adventists Shun Guns, Prep for Army Duty

GRAND LEDGE, Mich. (AP) — For Seventh-day Adventist men, whose beliefs prevent them from carrying guns, it is tough to win recognition as a good soldier. So they practice in advance for Army service.

On a warm June day, ideal for not working, 228 uniformed young men trained from 5:30 a. m. to 9:30 p. m., got chewed out by drill sergeants, and studied everything from sanitation to saluting.

The men, who paid $35 each to attend the two-week tent encampment, also drew late night guard duty.

It was part of Camp Desmond T. Doss, named in honor of an Adventist who did win recognition — the Medal of Honor for heroism as a medic in World War II.

Some members of the religious group, drafted in World War I, had trouble when they told their officers they couldn't bear arms and couldn't work on the sabbath — Saturday for Adventists.

At war's end, 35 were serving hard labor sentences and 162 had been court-martialed. The 35 were pardoned, though, and given honorable discharges.

The Army now makes special provision for drafting the Adventists into its medical divisions. About 300 Adventists are serving in Viet Nam, and at

The group tries to make its two-week camp as close to Army medical basic training as possible. Helping to make it realistic is a former Marine drill instructor — MCC Lt. Titus J. Henderson.

"I teach them the same things taught me in six years in the Marines," said Henderson, who became an Adventist after his 1949-55 Marine hitch.

In 1942, Japanese war planes raided Dutch Harbor, Alaska.

In 1946, the president of the Soviet Union, Mikhail Kalinin, died.

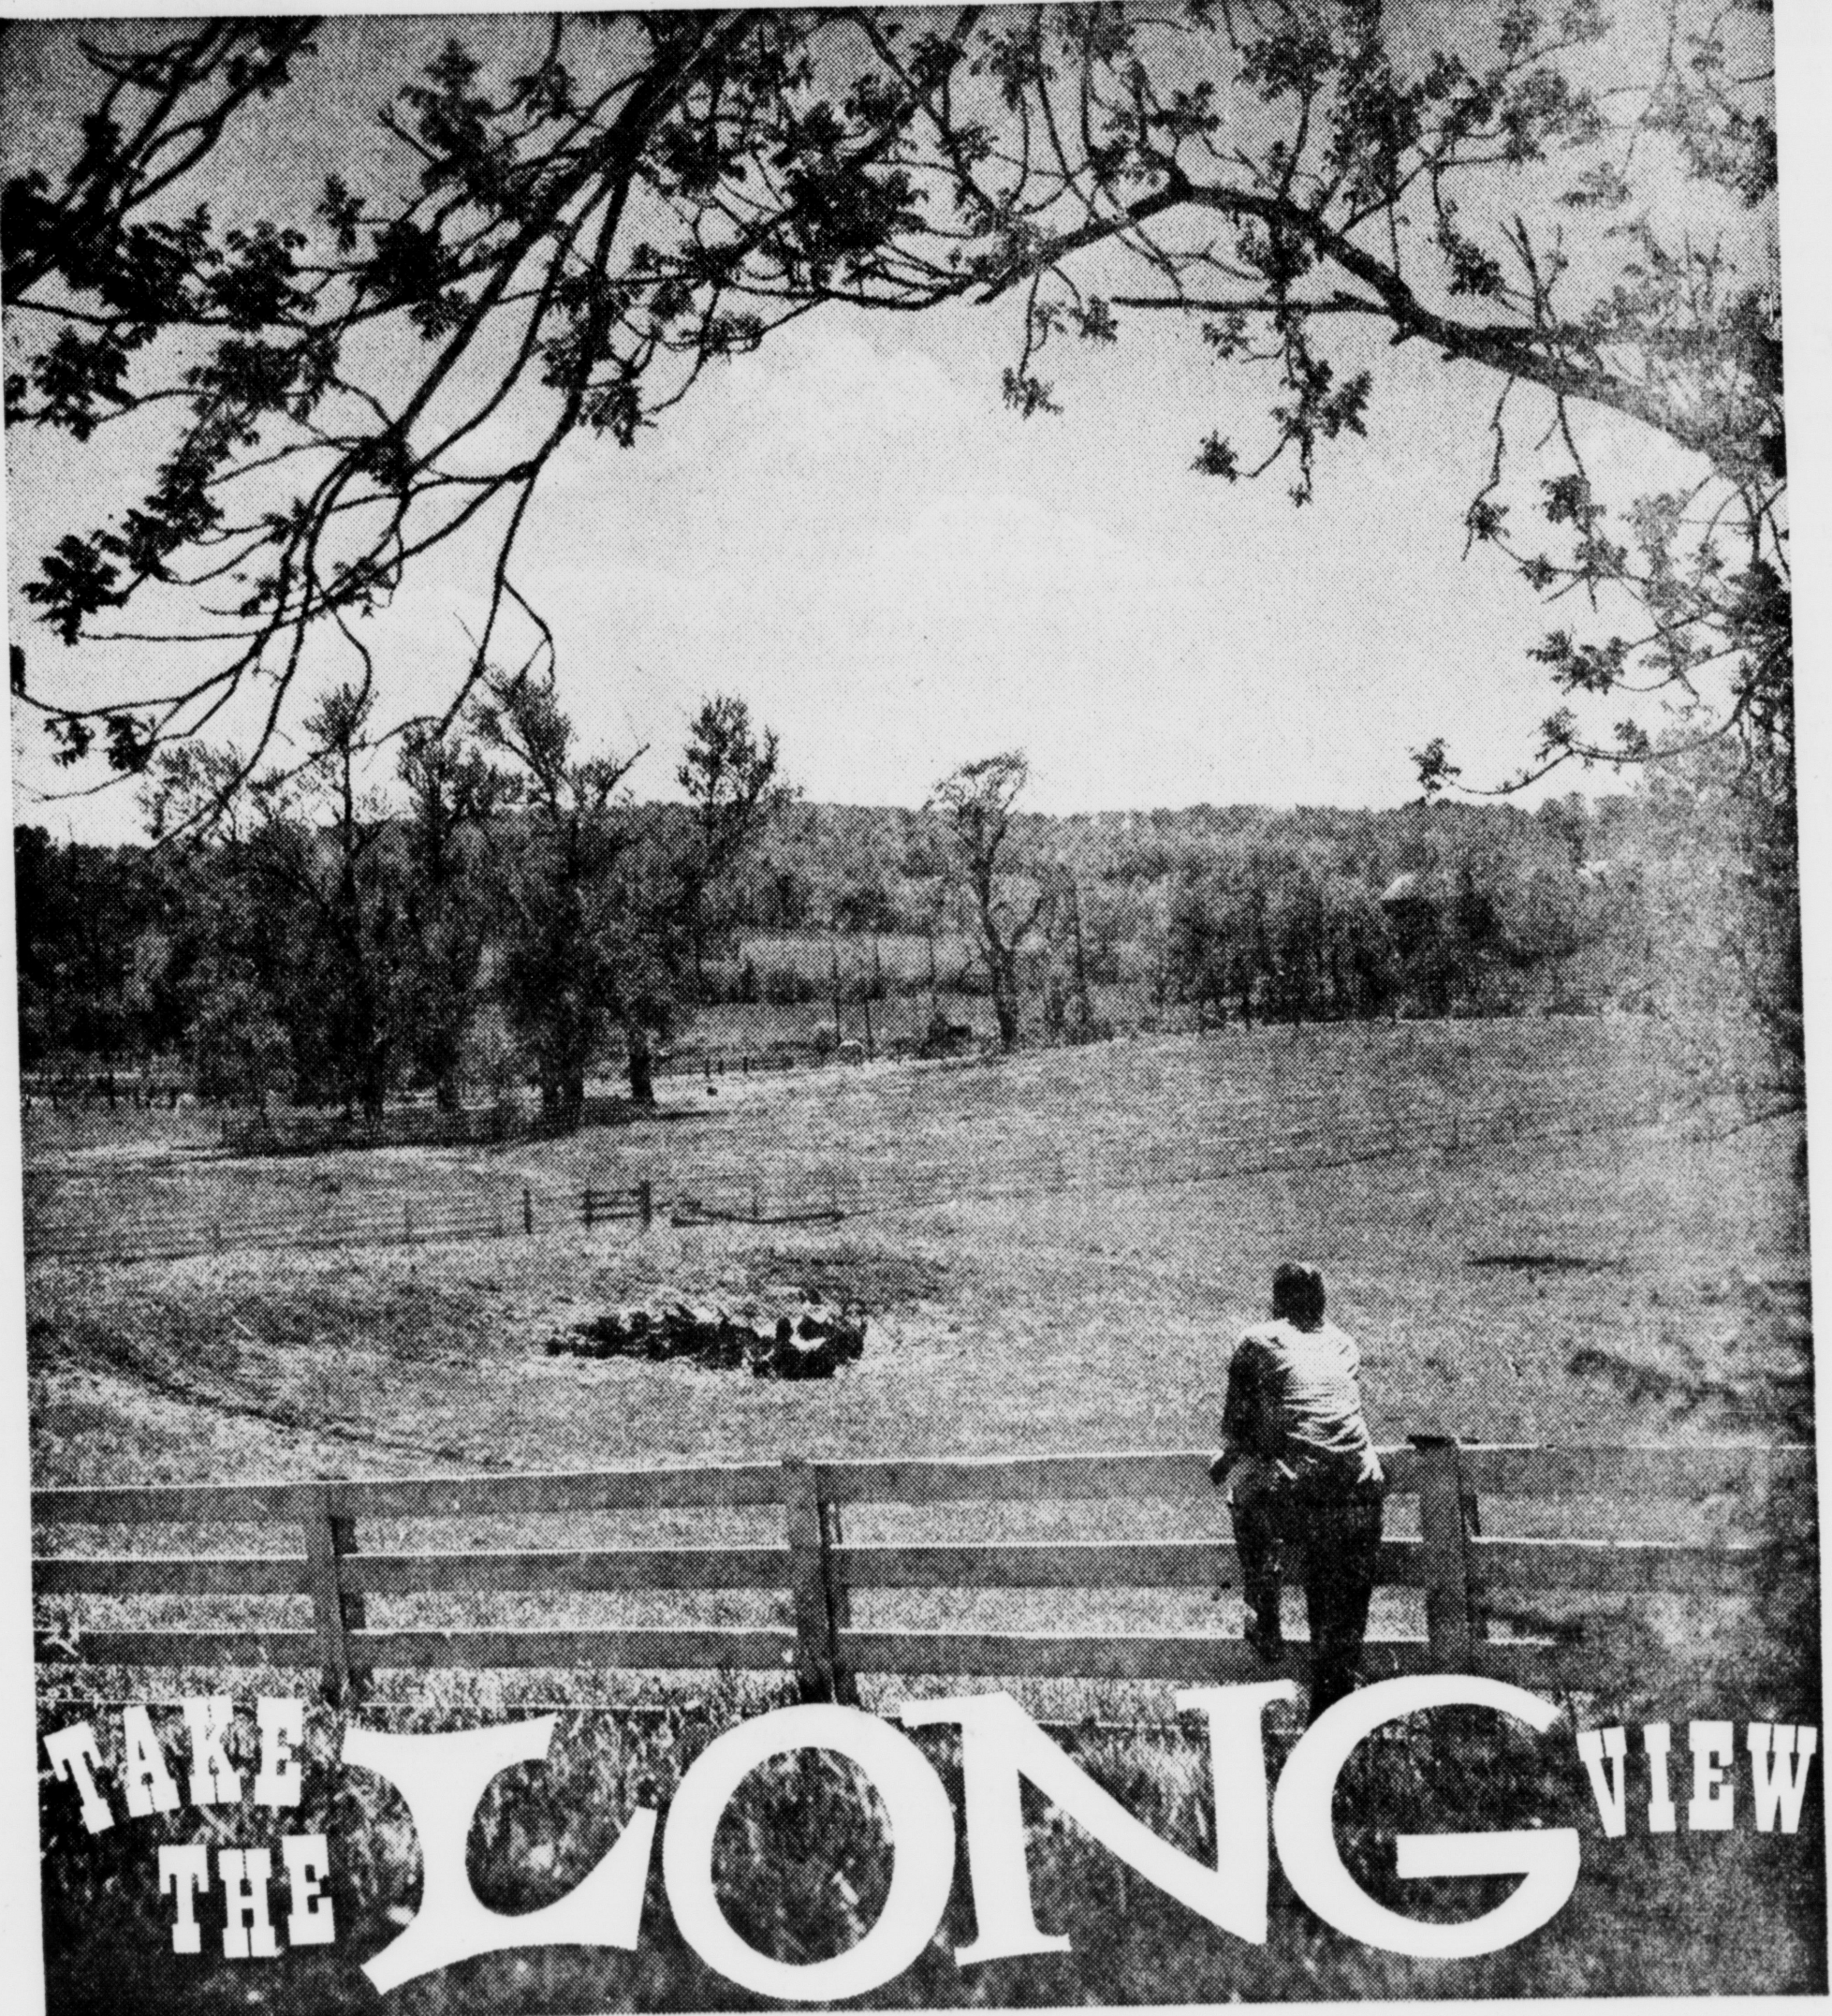

Ten years ago — Soviet Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev reportedly lashed out at Joseph Stalin during a speech in Prague, Czechoslovakia, declaring that Stalin almost caused a split with the Communist Chinese party.

Five years ago — President John F. Kennedy began a two-day conference with Soviet Premier Khrushchev in Vienna. The President traveled to Vienna from Paris where he had met with French President De Gaulle.

Who doesn't dream, sometimes? Who doesn't stand gazing into the future, picturing that new house, that graduation day, that wedding ceremony, that deluxe-model car . . . the thousand and one dreams that man holds in his heart?

We realize that a worthwhile life must contain more than just material satisfactions. Without a confident frame of mind, our future will be nothing but tension and uncertainty. Where can we find this inner feeling of courage that will make things easier for us every hour of every day?

Millions of people find it in the Christian faith. The apostle Paul said that he was strengthened in everything he did by faith in Christ . . . and this truth is constantly being rediscovered by men and women urgently in need of something they can trust.

Faith is the key to peace of mind. With faith, you will be able to move mountains of frustration.

5 Clergymen Hold Forum On Religion in Party Room

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Clergymen of five faiths, their backs against a cocktail bar, answered questions fired at them from the 20 young men and women in the crowded party room.

"How can I know that God exists?" asked a pink-cheeked man in a blue blazer.

"How do you find God—how do you make contact?" asked a coiffured redhead in suit and gloves.

"What about the 'God is dead' theory?" asked a blonde in a blue dress and pearl necklace.

To the clergymen the questions were not as important as the fact they were being asked here, in the window-walled recreation room overlooking the swimming pool of a 144-unit apartment building.

They are working together trying to find a means of maintaining religious values among the young adults for whom the modern apartment complex, with its bar and pool and sense of unrelenting, competitive gaiety, has become a way of life.

Panelists were the Rev. James Cashman of Holy Trinity Catholic Church, The Rev. Doug McLean of First Methodist, The Rev. Ed Courson of First Presbyterian, the Rev. William Bearden of Bethany Presbyterian, the Rev. J.R. Marcontel, a Baptist and director of student religious activity at Baylor University Medical Center, and the Rev. Robert Hobus.

The Rev. Mr. Hobus is in charge of the Apartment Ministry of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod.

He brought chuckles when he ceremoniously elected himself, "hearing no other motions, to the office of temporary pope of these proceedings," empowered to cut short his colleagues if they spoke too long.

The affair was advertised by post-card invitations and by this mimeographed message posted on mail slots: "Fact-finding forum for folks like you—Toll House rec room—ask your questions. Share your views."

The give-and-take talk of God and church lasted for two hours in the balloon-decorated room.

Less than half the audience resided in the apartment. Others came from other apartments because they had been notified earlier by the Rev. Mr. Hobus and his colleagues.

Each was asked to fill out a mimeographed form stating religious preferences. They were asked to indicate whether they'd like further contact with any of the clergymen.

Radatz Flops In First Start For Indians

Ex-Boston Hurler Is Clobbered by Lowly Athletics

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dick Radatz is now doing his latest act for the Cleveland Indians — and it still works like magic.

First he appears. Then he disappears.

Radatz did both in the seventh inning Thursday night just hours after the Indians acquired him from Boston. He faced eight batters, retired one, watched five cross the plate and let the Indians well on their way to an 11-4 loss to Kansas City.

Earlier in the day, Radatz had been frank in expressing his pleasure with the trade that sent him from the struggling Red Sox to the American League leading Indians in exchange for pitchers Lee Stange and Don McMahon.

"It's like starting life all over again — being born again," said Radatz. "There's nothing wrong with my arm. My trouble is mechanical and if I pitch the way I think I can, the Indians will win the pennant."

The way Radatz thinks he can pitch is the way he pitched from 1962 to 1964 when he was dubbed the Monster and twice won the Fireman of the Year award as baseball's No. 1 relief pitcher. The way he pitched against the A's is the way he's pitched the last two years while breaking in his disappearing act.

The Kansas City victory, coupled with Boston's 12-2 loss to Washington, tumbled the Red Sox into the AL cellar while the A's climbed into ninth place.

Elsewhere, Baltimore outlasted California 9-6 in 10 innings, Detroit edged Minnesota 7-6 and the New York Yankees defeated the Chicago White Sox 5-3.

In the National League, San Francisco blanked Atlanta 5-0, Pittsburgh shut out the New York Mets by the same score, Los Angeles nipped St. Louis 2-0 Philadelphia doused the Chicago Cubs 5-4 and Houston blasted Cincinnati 11-4 in 12 innings.

The Senators collected 13 hits, and made the most of three Red Sox errors, eight walks, a wild pitch and a balk. Dick Nen hit a homer and drove in three runs for Washington and Ed Brinkman collected three hits.

Andy Etchebarren's sacrifice fly in the 10th inning broke a 5-5 tie for the Orioles, who went on to score three more runs in the inning on singles by pitcher Stu Miller and Boog Powell. Luis Aparicio stroked his fifth hit of the game during the uprising that sent the Angels down to their third straight extrajoining loss.

Harmon Killebrew hit his fourth homer in as many games for the Twins but his wild throw in the seventh inning let in the tie-breaking run for the Tigers. Killebrew's throw to the plate on Bill Freehan's grounder allowed Al Kaline to score and snap a 5-5 tie. Kaline had doubled in the tying run.

Bobby Richardson's three-run double and Steve Hamilton's relief pitching got the job done for the Yankees. Richardson's hit capped a four-run fourth inning uprising which wiped out a 3-1 White Sox lead and Hamilton preserved the victory with a three-hit performance over the final seven innings.

Tiger Product Cap Mainstay

Jim Wellington, 1964 Circleville High School graduate, has been starting second baseman and a leading hitter on the Capital University baseball team this spring.

A right-handed junior, Wellington hit in the high .300s most of the early part of the season. He finished with a .275 average.

"Toward the end of the season, we had about eight games rained out and I was not hitting as well as I could," the talented CHS grad explained.

In the field, he played practically flawless ball. His only error was a throwing miscue.

WELLINGTON earned the starting second base role at the beginning of the season when the regular Capital second sack-er was shifted to left field to bolster outfield strength.

Circleville High School fans will remember Wellington as a four-year varsity shortstop. He was an All-South Central Ohio League selection his sophomore, junior and senior seasons.

He was the second leading swatter on the Tiger team, hitting about .375. He consistently led the squad in assists and committed few errors during his high school career.

He was the leadoff hitter in the Tiger batting lineup and as a senior played on the team that went to the regional finals — top eight in the state — before losing to Lima Senior High School.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard (Wink) K. Wellington, 508 Springhollow Road.

NFL Players Shopping For Berths in Rival AFL

NEW YORK (AP) — It's a players' market in pro football. Bud Adams, owner of the Houston Oilers of the American Football League, says at least 100 National Football League veterans have contacted AFL teams.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozell says both leagues are concerned about lame duck players. AFL Commissioner Al Davis is strangely silent.

The big fuss started May 17 when the New York Giants announced they had signed Pete Gogolak, the soccer-style place-kicker who played out his option with Buffalo and the AFL.

Two NF strongmen, George Halas, owner-coach of the Chicago Bears, and Vince Lombardi, coach-general manager of the Green Bay Packers, have said they didn't like the idea.

"I think good judgment was not used," said Halas.

"I did not like it and many others did not like it either," said Lombardi.

Several of the 15 NFL coaches who finished a two-day meeting Thursday, deplored the contract war.

"They're going to kill the game if they start flitting with one another's players," said George Allen, new coach of the NFL's Los Angeles Rams. "There are enough good football players to go around for both leagues."

Under pro football rules, when a player signs he is bound to a club for two seasons — the second year on option. He can play out his option. He then becomes a free agent the following May 1 and is free to dick. Gogolak did that at Buffalo, and many players are expected to do it this year unless the war ends.

A settlement of some type may be in the wind. One NFL owner, who refused to let his name be used, said there might be interesting developments before the teams report to training camp in July.

New Columbus Hockey Team Named 'Checkers'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Columbus Checkers — wearing red, white and black uniforms — is the name of the new entry in the International Hockey League.

The nickname was picked Thursday from hundreds in a public contest. The team begins play next fall.

Teays Valley Places 3 on All-Star Unit

Teays Valley placed three players on the All-Metropolitan League baseball squad.

Bill Dore, senior mound ace, Rick Pickering, who plays outfield when not pitching, and outfielder Dave Cook were the coaches' picks to the elite unit.

Mike Lombardo, Viking sophomore catcher, was an honorable mention selection.

Franklin Heights placed five players on the squad, Whitehall three, Pleasant View and Reynoldsburg two each and Hamilton Twp. one.

Here is the squad:

Pitchers — Mickey Pless, Franklin Heights, Jim Dildine, Whitehall, Bill Dore, Teays Valley.

Infielders — Jeff Wiler, Franklin Heights; Jack Schneider, Hamilton Twp.; Jim Geddes, Pleasant View; Denny Spires, Reynoldsburg; Rick Pickering, Teays Valley; Dave Cook, Teays Valley.

Honorable Mention — Gary Finley and Glen Cutler, Franklin Heights; Ray Malone, Teays Valley; Stan Robinson and Tip Nelson, Whitehall; Carroll Hartsoe, Hamilton Twp.; Don Woods and Bob Britt, Reynoldsburg; Mike Mindigo and Greg Rundels, Pleasant View.

The late Babe Didrikson, Zaharias, golfer and trackster won The Associated Press Female Athlete of the Year award six times.

Swim Team Coach Issues Practice Call

Jim Shea, coach of the Circleville Swim Team, has scheduled the first practice of the organization 7:30 to 9 a. m. Monday at the Circleville Swimming Pool.

Shea urged all past members of the team and swimmers between the ages of 10 and 17 who desire to join the team to be at the practice. He noted the local team is especially weak in depth and new swimmers are needed.

Daily sessions have been slated 7:30 to 9 a. m. at the Pool.

In addition, the coach has planned special practices which will be held on designated evenings from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m.

The first swim meet is scheduled June 23. League meets are June 23, 30, July 7, 14, 21. Other meets include the Wright Patterson Invitational at Dayton July 8-9; Lancaster Invitational, July 11-12; short course Junior Olympics, Columbus, July 18-21; Delaware Invitational, July 22; Ohio Age Group Swimming Championships at Newark July 29-31; long course Junior Olympics at Columbus, Aug. 12-13; Champ of Champs Columbus, Aug. 19-20.

Buffle May Be Key Belmont Entry

NEW YORK (AP) — If you believe that experience is paramount in a horse race, go no further than Buffle in looking for the probable winner of Saturday's $125,000-added Belmont Stakes at Aqueduct.

Although not heavily campaigned, the home-bred son of Zenith out of a Dold Venture mare, Refurbish, is supported heavily by a cast wide in the ways of the 1½-mile race, which winds up the Triple Crown competition for 3-year-olds.

Post time Saturday is 5:15 p.m., EDT, with television (CBS) slated for 5:53 p.m.

Cedarville Tops All-Mid-Ohio '9'

CEDARVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Cedarville College placed three men on the All-Mid-Ohio Conference baseball team for 1966 — pitcher Charles Wilkins and outfielders Rog McKenney and Gary Shufelt.

Other all-league selections were pitchers Dan Kline and Denny Kidwell, both of Defiance; Dave Fross, Malone, first base; Bill Arehart, Wilmington, second base; Mark Froning, bluffton, third base; Jerry Dunbar, Ashland, shortstop; and Bill Lewis, Wilmington, catcher.

The late Babe Didrikson, Zaharias, golfer and trackster won The Associated Press Female Athlete of the Year award six times.

USE THE CLASSIFIEDS

Buffle is owned by Robert Kleberg's King Ranch, which has won three runnings of the Belmont in 11 tries — with Triple Crown winner Assault in 1946, Middleground in 1950 and High Gun in 1954. He is trained by 85-year-old Max Hirsch, who has saddled four winners — the King Ranch trio and Vitoway back in 1928. And he'll be ridden by Manuel Ycaa, who has tried four times and won once — with Quadrangle two years ago.

C. V. Whitney is the only owner, except King Ranch, among the 10 scheduled entries who has won the classic. The Eton blue and brown capped silks were carried to victory by Phalanx in 1947 and by Counterpoint in 1951. He's tried with 16 other horses.

Whitney will be represented by Fast Count, a son of Counterpoint who looked far from impressive as a 2-year-old but this year has won all three of his starts, each at 1½ miles and all over the Aqueduct oval.

Two of the jockeys have been honored in the winner's circle. Braulio Baea, who'll ride the well-liked Stupendous from Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Wheatley Stable, won with Sherluck in 1961 and Chateaugay in 1963. Wheatley representatives have failed in 10 attempts.

Johnny Selers, failed on the popular Carry Back in 1961 but came through with Hail to All last year for his first Belmont triumph in five rides. Baea also has ridden in five Belmonts as has Bobby Ussery, who'll be after his first triumph on Fleet Shoe, the hope of California.

At the other end of the experience ladder is Kaul King winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness and the 4-5 favorite to become the ninth winner of the Triple Crown.

Not one of his cast ever has been near the New York track on Belmont Stakes day.

Valam, the rank outsider who'll start only if the track is fast, is the lone other horse with a complete novice cast. The others — Amberoid, Highest Honors and Rehabilitate, all will be ridden by jockeys who have been in one or more Belmonts.

Entries closed at 10:30 a.m., EDT, today with a pot of $160,200 due if 10 are entered. The winner will earn $116,450 with $25,000 to second, $12,500 to third and $6,250 to fourth.

Scioto Set For Harness Anniversary

Scioto Downs will kick off a week-long celebration of the 160th Anniversary of harness racing.

The week begins tonight, with the presentation of an outstanding nine-race program highlighted by the return of the free-for-all pacers in the $3,500 Invitational Pace Tuesday, the first central Ohio showing of the traveling photographic exhibit from the Trotting Horse Hall of Fame in Goshen, N. Y., is slated at the Downs.

The week long celebration will conclude on June 10, the 160th anniversary of the first recorded harness race back in 1806. On that date in Harlem, N. Y., a trotting horse named Yankee trotted the mile in two minutes fifty-nine seconds. Record keeping in the historical and traditional American sport had begun.

Tonight's Invitational Pace marks the return to Scioto Downs of many of the brilliant faster class pacers who thrilled racing fans in so many memorable races last year at The Downs.

The outstanding field of side-wheelers could produce the fastest mile of the meeting this year.

The early pre-race selection strictly off the latest performance would have to go to Easy Prom, a dazzling 4 year-old gelding owned by Harry Miller of Upper Sandusky. With Bob Seabrook in the sulky, Easy Prom has two quick victories this year in his only two starts at Lexington, Kentucky. The first start was in 2:04 3-5 the second straight win in 2:00 1-5.

Easy Prom is no stranger to Scioto racing fans. Last year he established a new track pacing for the one and five-eighths distance in 3:28 1-5. The longer distance record was a national record when made.

Challenging the Seabrook entry will be Bye Time, a familiar name to Scioto fans. Owned by the Mac-Jay stable of Portsmouth, this chancy 5 year-old has racked up three wins in eleven starts this year and owns a mile mark of 2:01 2-5.

Hideaway Pat from the Jim Arledge stable took his record of 2:02 last year at Scioto and is still looking for his first win this year in five starts.

Town Is Being Hammered by Sonic Boom

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The most searching study yet of how people react to incessant bursts of noise from the sky now is under way at this "home of the sonic boom."

The world's fastest bombers and fighters — XB70As and YF12As, capable of 2,000-mile speeds planned for upcoming fleets of supersonic transports—are hammering this 2,300-home desert community with deliberately generated booms and will continue for the next three months.

How the homes and their occupants stand up under the bombardment of man made thunderclaps will have a major effect on the way planes are flown across populous areas of the Midwest—destined to bear the brunt when airliners now being designed start spanning the continent in two hours.

Edwards, which claims to be the first piece of real estate to feel a sonic boom—on Oct. 14, 1947, when Col. Charles Yeager flew the Bell X1 faster than sound—is superbly conditioned to such cannonading.

With experimental planes in the air virtually every sunlit hour and generating an average of 2,500 sonic booms a year, residents have become so used to window-rattling shocks they don't even look up.

If calloused ears such as these complain when XB70A begins streaking overhead with airline regularity, government planners are expected to take steps to protect boom-shy Midwesterners in the years ahead. What those steps will be depends on information gained in the detailed study. Runs at varying speeds and altitudes will be made by several types of craft. Volunteer test subjects will be asked which of the series of booms they found most objectionable.

Millionaire's Birthday Party Is Rare Affair

LONDON (AP)—Oil millionaire Nubar Gulbenkian celebrated his 70th birthday Wednesday by entertaining 400 guests at a London hotel.

The party included a huntsman who heralded Gulbenkian's 70 years with a hunting horn; a pipes and drum band to pipe in a huge cake; four belly dancers from Istanbul; 100 pounds of caviar flown from Moscow; a barrel of Havana cigars; 800 orchids, and, of course, plenty of champagne.

From this, Air Force and U.S. space agency scientists hope to work out a speed and altitude profile which will make the planes acceptable to the majority.

Booms are pressure waves created when planes, pushing and compressing the air ahead of them, exceed the speed of sound — about 660 miles an hour at 70,000 feet. The waves trail downward behind the aircraft, causing an increase in normal atmospheric pressure.

These waves of overpressure make a noise when they hit the ground. The kind of noise, or boom, depends on size, speed and shape of the aircraft, the temperature and density of the air.

Something happens to the waves when they move down from the cool, clear upper air into the hot, dirty air near the surface. Just what happens is not known, but better understanding of what booms are like before they are altered by the lower air could result in changes in aircraft design or indicate the least objectionable times of day or night for supersonic flight.

Viet Veteran Thought Mom Making Big Fuss

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—"Mom," Marine Lance Cpl. Gary Runger told his mother on the phone from California, "don't make a big fuss about me coming home."

When he arrived Wednesday night in Portland, after a tour in Viet Nam, he was astounded.

There was a huge crowd waiting at his airport gate, complete with lights and television cameras.

It was for actress Jane Russell, who walked out just behind Gary, arriving in Portland to support a war fund-raising affair.

GOP Chiefs Call Poverty Program 'Disastrous'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois urged Thursday that President Johnson immediately start a thorough reappraisal of what he called "this disastrous" poverty program.

At a news conference with House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, Dirksen praised a House GOP report denouncing present poverty legislation and said, "I have seen nothing in a good number of years that will so alert and alarm our people as to the reckless course the Johnson-Humphrey administration has now clearly laid out before us."

Ford and Dirksen made available for newsmen a 99-page report turned out by the minority members of the House Education and Labor Committee. The people, said Ford, "must be told how frightfully, how disastrously, their dollars are being spent in this incredible, mismanaged, almost totally unproductive program of the Johnson-Humphrey administration."

Princess Volunteers For Fingerprinting

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret had her fingerprints taken Wednesday.

Her prints will be kept at Hampshire police headquarters along with 30,000 others — as a memento.

The princess volunteered to be fingerprinted during a tour of the new $840,000 police headquarters building at Winchester.

City Gets $3 in Cash From Guilty Conscience

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—The Jacksonville City Recreation Department has received $3 in cash in the mail.

With the money was an unsigned note that read: "I stole a football a long time ago."

Ford argued that the Johnson administration has regularly substituted promises for performance and "when such a policy is applied to the poor it becomes not only harsh, not only cruel but intolerable and unforgivable."

Sargent Shriver head of the federal antipoverty agency, said Dirksen's remarks were politically motivated.

"Sen. Dirksen is, after all, the leader of the Republican party and he has to take the political position adopted by his party, whether or not he agrees with it," Shriver said.

Shriver also said the Republican minority report is "nothing other than a patchwork of old newspaper clippings, well-worn rumors and alleged scandals, the vast majority of which have been proven wrong over and over again or where there was substance, the situation has long since been corrected."

"In the communications field there is a technique called the 'big lie' which says if you repeat something over and over again, people may believe it."

"Unfortunately, Sen. Dirksen has not consulted with the voters of Illinois where the war on poverty is working successfully in getting people out of poverty."

Town Is Being Hammered by Sonic Boom

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The most searching study yet of how people react to incessant bursts of noise from the sky now is under way at this "home of the sonic boom."

The world's fastest bombers and fighters — XB70As and YF12As, capable of 2,000-mile speeds planned for upcoming fleets of supersonic transports—are hammering this 2,300-home desert community with deliberately generated booms and will continue for the next three months.

How the homes and their occupants stand up under the bombardment of man made thunderclaps will have a major effect on the way planes are flown across populous areas of the Midwest—destined to bear the brunt when airliners now being designed start spanning the continent in two hours.

Edwards, which claims to be the first piece of real estate to feel a sonic boom—on Oct. 14, 1947, when Col. Charles Yeager flew the Bell X1 faster than sound—is superbly conditioned to such cannonading.

With experimental planes in the air virtually every sunlit hour and generating an average of 2,500 sonic booms a year, residents have become so used to window-rattling shocks they don't even look up.

If calloused ears such as these complain when XB70A begins streaking overhead with airline regularity, government planners are expected to take steps to protect boom-shy Midwesterners in the years ahead.

What those steps will be depends on information gained in the detailed study. Runs at varying speeds and altitudes will be made by several types of craft. Volunteer test subjects will be asked which of the series of booms they found most objectionable.

Millionaire's Birthday Party Is Rare Affair

LONDON (AP)—Oil millionaire Nubar Gulbenkian celebrated his 70th birthday Wednesday by entertaining 400 guests at a London hotel.

The party included a huntsman who heralded Gulbenkian's 70 years with a hunting horn; a pipes and drum band to pipe in a huge cake; four belly dancers from Istanbul; 100 pounds of caviar flown from Moscow; a barrel of Havana cigars; 800 orchids, and, of course, plenty of champagne.

"Sen. Dirksen is, after all, the leader of the Republican party and he has to take the political position adopted by his party, whether or not he agrees with it," Shriver said.

Shriver also said the Republican minority report is "nothing other than a patchwork of old newspaper clippings, well-worn rumors and alleged scandals, the vast majority of which have been proven wrong over and over again or where there was substance, the situation has long since been corrected."

"In the communications field there is a technique called the 'big lie' which says if you repeat something over and over again, people may believe it."

"Unfortunately, Sen. Dirksen has not consulted with the voters of Illinois where the war on poverty is working successfully in getting people out of poverty."

From this, Air Force and U.S. space agency scientists hope to work out a speed and altitude profile which will make the planes acceptable to the majority.

Booms are pressure waves created when planes, pushing and compressing the air ahead of them, exceed the speed of sound — about 660 miles an hour a 70,000 feet. The waves trail downward behind the aircraft, causing an increase in normal atmospheric pressure.

These waves of overpressure make a noise when they hit the ground. The kind of noise, or boom, depends on size, speed and shape of the aircraft, the temperature and density of the air.

Something happens to the waves when they move down from the cool, clear upper air into the hot, dirty air near the surface. Just what happens is not known, but better understanding of what booms are like before they are altered by the lower air could result in changes in aircraft design or indicate the least objectionable times of day or night for supersonic flight.

Viet Veteran Thought Mom Making Big Fuss

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—"Mom," Marine Lance Cpl. Gary Runger told his mother on the phone from California, "don't make a big fuss about me coming home."

When he arrived Wednesday night in Portland, after a tour in Viet Nam, he was astounded.

There was a huge crowd waiting at his airport gate, complete with lights and television cameras.

It was for actress Jane Russell, who walked out just behind Gary, arriving in Portland to support a war fund-raising affair.
